Altar Bound

If pretty Edna Cantor looks thoughtful, you can safely bet that she's thinking about the attentive young man who bends over her for the third daughter of Comedian Eddie Cantor will marry that young man in May. He is Jimmy McHugh Jr., son of the Irish song writer, and he works in a Los Angeles bank. Edna is the second of Cantor's five daughters to head altarward.

MRS. J. S. HILL ANSWERS CALL

Mrs. Jessie C. Hill, 51, pioneer Santa Ana matron and wife of J. S. Hill of the clothing firm Hill and Carden, died shortly after noon today following a long illness. She had been a resident of Santa Ana for the past 33 years.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by the Smith and Tuthill mortuary.

In addition to her husband Mrs. Hill is survived by two sons, Herbert Hill and John William Hill; two daughters Betty and Marjorie Hill; her parents Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Carden; a sister, Mrs. Helen Hood and one brother Lester Carden, all of whom make their homes in Santa Ana.

OIL COMPANIES ARE CONVICTED BY JURY

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 22.—(UP)—Majority of oil companies were convicted today of criminal charges of conspiracy to raise and fix gasoline prices at the end of a 16 weeks trial here in U. S. district court.

A jury of farmers and small town business men returned the verdict after deliberating about nine hours. Trial of the oil companies began Oct. 4.

The verdict applied to the entire 16 companies and 30 defendants left in the case from an original 24 companies, 65 individuals, and three trade publications indicted by a federal grand jury which began its investigation almost two years ago.

The government's greatest antitrust trial of its kind in history was terminated when Hiram Nelson, 65, a retired telephone company manager who served as foreman of the jury made its report to Judge Stone.

ARMY OFFICERS DIE IN AUTO ACCIDENT

MANILA, Jan. 22.—Four United States army officers were killed today when their automobile blew a tire and crashed into a tree. A fifth officer was injured.

The dead: Captain Stuart Bevans, Captain George Ehrhardt, Lieutenant Milton A. Acklen, and Lieutenant Henry Crosswell.

Captain Paul Ridge was injured. The accident occurred between Angeles and Port Stotsenburg.

Captain Bevans is survived by his widow. The other victims were unmarried.

Clipper Ship Lands At San Pedro

FORCED BACK FROM FLIGHT TO HONOLULU

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 22.—(UP)—Turning back 700 miles out at sea on a flight to Hawaii because of a stopped fuel line, the China Clipper sped for the California coast and made an emergency landing at Los Angeles Harbor with eight passengers and seven crew members early today.

The four-motored flying boat, still larger companion of the ill-fated Samoan Clipper that exploded and was lost off Pago Pago with a crew of seven two weeks ago, cruised for several hours awaiting daylight before attempting to come down in the unfamiliar water here. It was ordered here instead of the regular base at Alameda because fog shrouded the San Francisco bay area.

Passenger Removed
Reported off Santa Catalina Island as early as 6:30 o'clock, it finally swooped down over a navy cruiser at 6:35 and taxied to the Cabrillo Beach to unload the passengers.

The passengers woke up this

JAPAN REVEALS WAR POLICIES

TOKYO, Jan. 22.—(UP)—Cabinet ministers, outlining Chinese war policy in parliament said today that they were confronted with the biggest task in Japan's history and that they could not accomplish it without the courageous support of the country.

Prince Fumimaro Konoye, premier, Koki Hirota, foreign minister, Gen. Gen Sugiyama, war minister, and Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai, navy minister, in turn addressed the Diet.

It was Prince Konoye who emphasized the momentous proportions of the campaign in which Japan would seek to increase its productive power under a gigantic plan covering Japan, Manchukuo and China.

PROBATION SOUGHT BY STOCKTON PAIR

MODESTO, Cal., Jan. 22.—(UP)—Harry Larsen, 24, and Carmel Margilin, 22, both of Stockton, today sought probation after being charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Larsen and Margilin were two of six men arrested New Year's Eve in Modesto when police raided an alleged "wild party." The others who will appear in court here Monday, are George Antrim, 23, who resigned as chief deputy recorder of Stanislaus county after his arrest; Forrest Collier, 32, and Bill Meyers, 27, both of Modesto, and Charles Dooley, 21, Stockton postal clerk.

Police alleged the accused men were wearing rouge and lipstick when the all-male party was raided. The delinquency charges were filed when several boys were found in the house, police said.

FRAUD SUSPECT TO FACE BRIBE CHARGE

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 22.—(UP)—Boies Heed, 45, New York businessman on trial for mail fraud in New York, was accused here today of offering County Attorney John Corbin a bribe to permit operation of a "confidence game."

The new charge was similar to that dismissed here when federal authorities sought Heed's removal to New York for federal trial on charges of being a member of a huge "confidence game" ring that operated from New York to Reno, Nev.

Corbin charged Heed offered him three per cent of his gross profits from the alleged "confidence game." Former Sheriff J. R. McFadden was named jointly with Heed in a similar complaint filed several weeks ago but which was dismissed as it affected Heed. Both have been ordered tried in superior court.

Family Rift Result Of Legal Fight

Four members of the pioneer Justice family occupying the old family domicile at Midway City, divided by litigation over the question of selling the 53-acre ranch, today dwelt under the same roof but in the silence of estrangement it was said, while awaiting disposal of the old home where all were reared.

Wiley Justice and his sister, Rhoda Taylor, on one side of the lawsuit, were housed with their brother, Roy C. Justice, and sister, Martha Yost, their legal opponents. Two other members of the family, Laura Richhart and Ben Justice are said to be in Sanitariums. Laura sided with Wiley and Rhoda in the court dispute, Ben being aligned with Roy and Martha.

TVA CASE TO BE APPEALED

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Jan. 22.—(UP)—Attorneys representing the Tennessee Valley Authority and private utility interests planned today to have the United States Supreme court rule on the special district court opinion which upheld the constitutionality of the federal government's $500,000,000 electrical "yardstick" agency.

Spokesmen for the Commonwealth and Southern Corporation, whose president, Wendell L. Willkie, had suggested that the government purchase private utility properties in the TVA area, announced that the highest tribunal would be asked to reverse the decision of the three-judge district court.

James L. Fly, general counsel for the federal agency, declared that he would "take whatever steps necessary to get this case heard and disposed of by the Supreme court this term."

Thirty days are allowed for filing notice of appeal, and 60 days more for preparation before presentation of the appeal. If the maximum time were taken by the utilities, the Supreme court would receive the appeal late in April.

Eighteen southeastern utilities led by Willkie's corporation, brought the suit that resulted in the special court's unanimous decision yesterday. They had charged that the TVA was "primarily a mammoth power business," competing directly with private companies to the detriment of private business.

The court—composed of Circuit Court of Appeals Judge Florence E. Allen and Tennessee District Judges John J. Gore and John D. Martin—declared in the 10,000 word ruling that "these complainants have no immunity from lawful competition even if their business be curtailed or destroyed."

ROSS KIDNAPER TO FACE NEW CHARGES

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 22.—(UP)—J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, today narrowed down to two cases the kidnapping career of Peter Anders, abductor-slayer of Charles S. Ross.

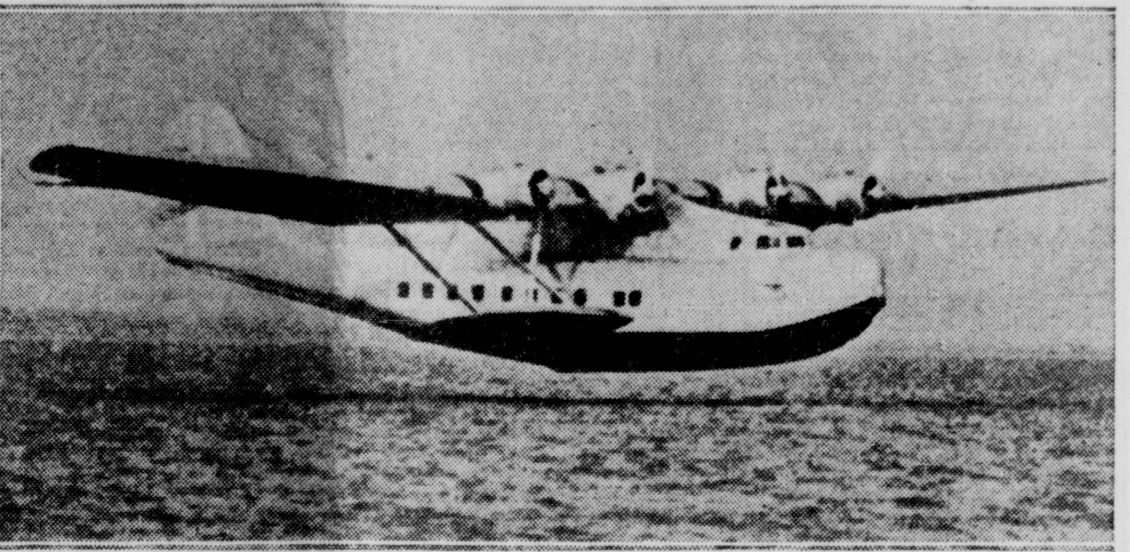

Hoover listed the confessed crimes as the kidnapping and killing of Ross, wealthy retired Chicago greeting card maker, for whom $50,000 ransom was paid and the "warm up" kidnapping Sept. 2 of Olivia Borgia, 20, wife of a Chicago race track bookmaker, near Lake Geneva, Wis. She was released without a ransom payment. Hoover also said Anders had confessed to a series of bank robberies in 1936 and 1937 in various parts of the country.

In a recapitulation of kidnapping crimes in the United States, Hoover listed as still unsolved the abduction of 10 year old Charles Mattson, Tacoma, Wash., and Arthur Fried, White Plains, N. Y. The Mattson boy was killed by his kidnaper.

Forced Back From Honolulu Flight

The giant China Clipper, pictured above, built by Glenn L. Martin, former Santa Ana, was today forced back from its scheduled flight from Alameda to Honolulu. Already 700 miles from the mainland en route to the Hawaiian islands with eight passengers and a crew of seven on board, the huge ship developed a stoppage in the fuel line. The China Clipper landed in Los Angeles harbor shortly after dawn today, and at 10:30 a. m. left for Alameda where the faulty fuel line will be repaired.

The clipper ship landed today on the same spot from which Martin and a party of friends took off last May on a flight commemorating the twentieth anniversary of Martin's first flight from Newport Beach to Catalina Island. On that occasion, the China Clipper was piloted by the late Captain Edwin Musick.

Nude Body Of Unidentified Man Found On Rocks At Mouth Of Santa Ana River

Discovered by fishermen shortly before dusk last night, wedged between mammoth rocks, of the jetty at the mouth of the Santa Ana river west of Newport Beach, the body of an unidentified man was being removed today by use of block and tackle, heavy cable and a tractor.

The equipment, furnished by the city of Newport Beach, was needed to remove the rocks which held the body tightly wedged between them.

May Be Hammond
Relatives of Ray C. Hammond, Standard Oil company employee at Huntington Beach, who is a resident of Westminster, feared, the body might be that of Hammond. Hammond disappeared January 11, after being last seen at Cecil's cafe, Ocean avenue, Huntington Beach. His automobile, containing valuables, was found abandoned at Huntington Beach.

Mrs. Hammond asked sheriff's office January 17 to help find her husband but no trace has been found. He is 40 years old, six feet tall, weighs 145 pounds, has grey hair and is partly bald. He wore a brown suit and shirt when last seen.

Theory Strengthened

PREDICT FIRST LADY WILL BOB HER HAIR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(UP)—Friends of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said today that she is considering shortening her hair in a nod to the bobbing trend.

The first lady, it was disclosed, already has had her hair trimmed at the sides to enable her to have it waved. Later, her friends believed, she may have it completely bobbed.

No first lady ever had worn bobbed hair.
Although Mrs. Roosevelt's coiffure was changed slightly by the shorter hair on the sides, she still wears her hair in her customary fashion—with a knot at the nape of the neck.

MRS. R. G. TUTHILL'S MOTHER SUCSUMBS

Mrs. Mary Dougherty, 82, of Laguna Beach, mother of Mrs. R. G. Tuthill, of Santa Ana, died at Laguna Beach today following an illness lasting several months.

A native of England, she had lived in Orange county eight years, five at Laguna Beach. Announcement of funeral arrangements will be made later. She leaves six sons and daughters, including Mrs. Tuthill; Mrs. Katharine Sallee and Marguerite Dougherty, of Laguna Beach; George Dougherty, of Klamath Falls, Oregon; James W. Dougherty, of Los Angeles; Louise Dougherty, of Seattle, Wash.

LYDIA P. SIMPSON TRIED FOR INSANITY HERE, SUED IN N. Y.

Mrs. Lydia Pedroja Simpson, central figure in a lively insanity trial here in 1936, when she was proved sane after brilliantly matching wits with prosecutors and their medical authorities, is being sued for divorce by her husband in New York City, according to an item in Life magazine of this week.

Dr. George Gaylord Simpson, paleontologist at the American Museum of Natural History in New York instituted the divorce proceedings against his estranged wife, whom he charged with cruelty. Dr. Simpson alleges that his wife beat him with her fists and forced him to wash the baby's diapers. He asks custody of their four daughters, whom his wife, while in Santa Ana, claimed had been kidnapped from her in Kansas.

Escaped From Hospital
The Simpsons were married in 1923. A turbulent marital career ensued, culminated when Dr. Simpson caused his wife's incarceration as a mental case in Bellevue hospital, New York, in 1934. She escaped from that institution and made her way eventually to the west coast.

In Santa Ana with a background of Bernard, Hodelite and Yale, she became active in literary circles and finally caused a sensation when she spoke before the Modern Literature section of the Ebell club, her behavior on

SOVIETS DENY U. S. INTERVIEW REQUEST

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(UP)—Soviet Russia today rejected the United States request that an American diplomatic representative be permitted to interview Mrs. Ruth Marie Rubens, now in a Soviet prison.

Mrs. Rubens, alias Mrs. Ruth Norma Robinson, was arrested in Moscow early in December. She is being held for investigation in connection with the suspected espionage activities of the man with whom she was traveling, Donald L. Robinson.

Loy Henderson, charge d'affaires of the American embassy at Moscow, cabled the state department that the Soviet foreign office had advised him that the Soviet police permitted the representatives of no foreign country to visit nationals in Soviet prisons during the course of their investigation. He said he had been informed that they could make no exception in favor of the United States.

"I'M ON MY WAY"

BERKELEY, Cal., Jan. 22.—(UP)—"Dear Pop: I went away in good company to see the world, be sure and save the dishes for me until I get back," wrote Edward Gardner, 13. The dishes loomed menacingly. He added a P.S.: "Be back in a year." George Hildebrand, also 13, was missing with Edward.

Joan Blondell, Al Jolson and Robert Montgomery took turns yesterday sitting in the theatre boxoffice as ticket sellers, hoping additional fans would be lured to buy tickets if handed out by a noted star.

Fruit Case Plea Denied By Scovel

Superior Judge George K. Scovel late yesterday refused to prevent Justice J. T. Hayden of Tustin, from presiding over the second "frozen fruit" trial of Ed and Jerry Mills, Anaheim packing house managers. The court denied Mills' petition for a peremptory writ of prohibition and dismissed the alternative writ thereto issued.

Ruling on the contention of Mills attorneys, S. B. Kaufman and Robbie Anderson and W. P. Webb, that there is no law permitting Justice Charles Kuechel of Anaheim, to disqualify himself on motion of the prosecution in a criminal case, Judge Scovel declared that every court has the inherent power to disqualify itself.

Rights Are Cited
Judge Scovel asked the defense attorneys if they had any objection to being tried in Anaheim, where Justice Hayden has been assigned to preside over the case, Justice Kuechel having disqualified himself. Kaufman replied there was

DAVIS BEGINS BOMBING QUIZ

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 22.—(UP)—Police Chief James Davis, flying back from Mexico City to find his department involved in the sensational investigation of the bombing of Private Detective Harry Raymond, ordered an immediate and thorough investigation today.

Raymond, former San Diego police chief and lately a prober into Los Angeles vice and gambling, was seriously injured one week ago by two bombs exploding under the hood of his sedan.

Raymond "Shadowed"
The city police intelligence squad was disclosed to have been "shadowing" Raymond for three months up to the day of the bombing, and District Attorney Burrell Pitts had two of the squad's high ranking detectives booked on suspicion of telephone wire tapping.

Chief Davis returned from pistol matches in which the Los Angeles department's team participated in Mexico City. Stepping off a Pan-American Airways plane, he was met at Grand Central Airport by Assistant Chief George Allen and Deputy Chief Harry Seager.

Chief Davis said: "I intend to instruct every officer who worked on the Harry Raymond investigation, whether at the house rented by the intelligence squad in furtherance of the investigation, or at any other time in the past six months, to make me a complete written report on everything he did."

NEW TREATMENT FOR COLDS IS REVEALED

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—(UP)—Short wave therapy has proved a swift and effective treatment for colds, sinus troubles and certain ailments of the skin and joints, the Boston Dispensary reported today.

Introduced in Germany a decade ago by Dr. E. Schleich, the treatment has been the subject of experiments conducted at the dispensary here for more than three years. During that period over 600 patients have been treated. Aside from the dispensary's machine, the only similar devices in the United States were reported to be owned by private practitioners in New York City, Brooklyn, N. Y., and Milwaukee, Wis.

The treatment consists of centering the patient in an electro-magnetic field. This makes possible the focusing of heat on any portion of the body, either internally or externally, and the temperature may be localized more easily than by electric pads or diathermy.

CONDEMNED MAN IN PLEA FOR CLEMENCY

FRESNO, Jan. 22.—(UP)—Attorneys for Roy Leon Righthouse, former Fresno soda fountain clerk condemned to hang for the slaying of Mrs. Alma Estep, Fresno nurse, today sought to have the death sentence reduced to life imprisonment in an appeal to Gov. Frank F. Merriam.

An appeal for executive clemency filed with Gov. Merriam yesterday asked a sanity test for the condemned man on the grounds that Righthouse was of unsound mind at the time he killed Mrs. Estep last May.

CITE CAUSES IN HOSPITAL DEATH CASE

With grand jury members looking on as observers, a coroner's jury at Fullerton late yesterday decided that improper equipment for inhalation treatment caused the fire which inflicted burns contributing to the death of Raymond Armaz, 21-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian Armaz, of Buena Park, in the Orange county hospital Wednesday evening.

The chief causes of the child's death, however, were attributed by the jury verdict to pneumonia and a recalcitrant gland, which should not have been present in a child of that age. Described as a persistent thymus gland, because it had failed to disappear as it normally does in babies before they reach the age of the Armaz child, the gland is said by physicians to invariably prove fatal in the event of excitement.

Contributory Causes
First and second-degree burns suffered by the child from the fire that ignited the sheet which formed the inhalation tent in ward 9, where the child was a patient, were assigned as contributory causes.

That the grand jury may interest itself in the case was evidenced at the inquest, when two members of the grand jury, Mrs. Maith Osborne and Mrs. May Neighbors,

BARCELONA HIT BY AIR RAIDERS

BARCELONA, Jan. 22.—(UP)—Nationalist airplanes made air raids on both Barcelona and Valencia today as the Loyalists opened an "eye for an eye" campaign with a 10 minute raid on the Nationalist headquarters at Salamanca.

Today's attack on Barcelona, where hundreds were killed in Thursday's raid, was unsuccessful. The planes appeared over the southern suburbs at 5 a. m. but were driven off by anti-aircraft fire. Nearly all their bombs dropped into the sea and no casualties were reported.

It was announced here that Valencia was bombed at 4:40 a. m., presumably by the same planes. The extent of damage or casualties, if any, was not announced.

Bombing Terrific
Twenty Loyalist planes dropped bombs weighing as much as 1100 pounds each on the Nationalist base at Salamanca.

(An official communique issued from Madrid and picked up by radio in London asserted that 5500 kilograms of bombs—18,700 pounds or more than nine tons—were dropped on Salamanca.)

Announcement of the new policy of reprisals against Nationalist air raids was made after a late night cabinet meeting.

A few hours after the announcement, Nationalist planes again raided the Barcelona suburbs.

The Loyalist campaign was the answer to a series of Nationalist raids on east coast cities in which hundreds of persons had been killed.

REPORT U. S. SHIP SEIZED IN SPAIN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(UP)—T. Monroe Fisher, American vice consul temporarily at Palma, Balearic Islands, informed the state department today that the American tanker Nantuxet Chief is being held there by Spanish Nationalist authorities.

He said he was informed by local naval authorities of the seizure of the vessel on Jan. 18 by Nationalist naval vessels. He said the ship is now under the control of a Nationalist naval officer.

Fisher did not say what efforts were being made to free the vessel and its crew from the Spanish authorities.

He said the ship's manifest indicates the vessel had a cargo of gasoline and kerosene shipped from a Soviet Russian port and destined for Barcelona. The crew numbers about 30, of whom 27 are American citizens, one a Finnish citizen and two are British subjects.

"NOT WANTED"
DODGE CITY, Kan., Jan. 22.—(UP)—John Wyckoff, 15, broke out of jail and ran home to his mother. But he was no welcome prodigal. She called the sheriff and a half hour later, John, a youthful burglar, was back in jail.

CLOSE WATCH ON ANAHEIM D U O LABOR TRENDS SINGS SUNDAY URGED IN TALK

"Agriculture is opposed to labor activities as they are being carried on at the present time."

This was the statement of Felton Browning, member of the Associated Farmers, at a meeting of the League of Women Voters at the Willard school yesterday afternoon, in an address on "The Farmer, the Work and the Consumer."

Reason for Distrust
"Agriculture is fearful of the outcome if labor attempts to carry its activities into Orange county in the same way as it was done in Imperial and San Joaquin valleys," Browning declared.

"We recognize the right of labor to organize and bargain collectively, but we look with distrust on the fact that in Stockton and San Francisco farmers are not allowed to drive their own trucks on the city streets."

"We favor the betterment of working conditions for agricultural workers but we view with alarm the fact that in the Santa Maria area farmers were forced to leave their fields and plows at the best of labor."

Branded As Saboteurs
"Conduct of this sort is sabotage just as truly as bombing is sabotage," Browning declared. Asked by members what the Associated Farmers were doing in attempting to alleviate the situation Browning said "We are attempting to iron out inequalities in payments. We are trying to correct differences in the industry. We are attempting through the press to keep the public and the workers informed of all of the activities of the Associated Farmers."

Open Meetings
Admitting that the Associated Farmers functioned secretly at the time of its formation, Browning said the meetings of the group were now open to the public and names of members have been made public through the press.

Mrs. J. D. Campbell, of Tustin, acted as chairman of the day and Mrs. Felton Browning presided at the meeting.

FRUIT CASE PLEA IS TURNED DOWN

no such objection, if Justice Kuchel presided.

"The defendant," observed the court, "has no right to pick his judge. He merely has the right to be tried before a judge and jury."

The provisions of Sec. 170 of the code of civil procedure, and Sec. 1431 of the penal code, which were cited at the hearing, do not destroy the inherent power of any court to disqualify itself, Judge Scovel decided.

The hearing yesterday came near being blocked on the point of jurisdiction, when Judge Scovel raised the question whether Justice Kuchel had granted a prosecution motion for change of venue, at the time he disqualified himself. If a change of venue had been granted to another court, there would be nothing pending in the Anaheim court and therefore nothing to prohibit Judge Scovel pointing out.

Grant Disqualification
After testimony from Justice Kuchel himself and examination of the Anaheim court record of proceedings, it was disclosed that Deputy District Attorney Harold McCabe, and Albert Belford, of the attorney-general's office, had not pressed their original motion for a change of venue, so that the case still stands in Anaheim court.

Disqualification of Justice Kuchel was the only matter decided, the prosecution attorneys stated. They had requested such disqualification on the ground the Justice Kuchel's nephew, Assemblyman Thomas Kuchel, had acted as Mills' counsel in the case, outside the court.

New Camera Club To Be Organized

Preliminary steps in the organization of a new camera club in Santa Ana were taken last night at a meeting held at the home of Robert Biles, 2023 Greenleaf street.

The following temporary officers were elected: Neil Adams, president; John Schier, vice president; and Biles, secretary-treasurer. A constitution and set of by-laws were temporarily adopted.

According to plans announced for the club, a definite subject for pictorialization will be selected for each meeting of the organization with cash prizes being offered for the best pictures.

"Roads" were selected for the next contest to be judged when members meet Feb. 21, at the home of Norman Dasher, 103 West Edinger street.

HELD TO ANSWER
Clarence "Curly" Corcoran, 28, was held to answer on a charge of non-support of a minor child when he appeared before Judge Cal Lester in Orange today. The complaint was filed by his wife, Mrs. Clarence Corcoran, of Garden Grove.

O. D. Martin was fined $40 and 20 days for being drunk and disturbing the peace in Bob's cafe on 101 highway January 16.

A Musical Memory Hour Program will be presented at Melrose Abbey Chapel tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock featuring two well known Anaheim sopranos, Rosemary Ramm and Margaret Palm, of the Leah Pemberton Studio; Charlotte Stafford, violinist, artist; pupil of Vladimir Lemska; and David Craighead, organist, will complete the program. Both are well known in Santa Ana musical circles.

Solos by Margaret Palm will include, "Lullaby" (Brahms) and "The Last Rose of Summer" from the opera "Martha." Miss Ramm is singing two numbers, "Savior Breathe a Blessing" from the "Stabat Mater" and "The Indian Love Call" by Friml. Duets by Miss Palm and Miss Ramm will be, "In the Deep Retreat" from the opera "Lakme"; "Songs My Mother Taught Me" (Dvorak) and "If My Songs Had Wings" (Hahn). Miss Stafford will offer four selections, "Obertass" (Weinlawski); "Ave Maria" (Schubert-Wilhelm); "Kulaklak" (Weinlawski); and "A Perfect Day" (Bond).

David Craighead, Melrose Abbey organist, will act as accompanist, also playing three organ solos, "Offertoire" (Battiste); "Hymn of Nuns" (Wely); "Toccata" (Wier). The public is invited.

HUGE CLIPPER SHIP IN FORCED LANDING

morning surprised to find themselves nearing the California coast instead of Hawaii.

Donald H. Connolly and Robert H. Hinckley, WPA administrators who had taken the Clipper for the islands because "we haven't time to take a boat walked onto the pier laughing."

"It was a fine trip, such as it was," said Connolly. "We started out yesterday and here we are back again."

They were among the passengers who "slept through the fun" and awakened to see the familiar outline of Santa Catalina Island instead of Honolulu's Sugar Loaf.

All of the passengers were eager to take off again aboard the clipper on the interrupted flight just as soon as repairs are made.

While the six men passengers went to a San Pedro cafe for breakfast, the two women were taken aboard the U.S.S. Argonne, flagship of Admiral W. C. Watts, commander of the navy base force here. Presumably they were invited to the admiral's table for breakfast, the navy having taken a leading part in the clipper's rescue here. Navy cabin cruisers, manned by bluejackets, met the big flying boat when it was moored near the Cabrillo resort beach, and took the men ashore.

The navy had lined up 10 battleships and cruisers in a string two and a half miles long leading from the open sea past the breakwater and the tangle of shipping, to the safe lane of open water near Reeves Field, from which the coast guard had cleared all craft. For hours before daylight dozens of searchlights on the warships were flashed through the darkness in the direction the clipper must take to land in the unfamiliar waters.

Capt. J. H. Tilton, commander of the flying boat, explained the trouble that forced abandonment of the flight.

"We were two hours this side of half way to Hawaii," he said. "When the fuel line from the right wing became clogged. We had drawn 300 gallons of the 950 gallons capacity when the clogging occurred."

"Because we were two hours on this side of half way, there was nothing else for us to do but turn back."

The skipper said they experienced no mechanical trouble other than the clogged line. All motors functioned perfectly at all times, he said.

He said the exact cause of the trouble had not been determined, but that it "probably will be found to be trivial." While the clipper dived on over the Pacific last night, members of the crew managed to by-pass part of the fuel from the stopped-up tank, he said.

Capt. Tilton said he received orders from the Alameda headquarters of Pan-American Airways to take off at 10:30 o'clock and fly the clipper there for repairs.

All passengers but Connolly were to fly north in the clipper, the WPA man to follow by airplane before the clipper takes off again for Hawaii, probably about 3 p. m. tomorrow.

County registers and headquarters will be provided. At 2 p. m., the Hon. Arthur A. George, of Zanesville, will address the crowd on the subject of "The Psychology of Human Nature." Coffee will be supplied by the federation.

WPA MESSAGE—Orange county WPA workers who are entitled to benefits under the State Unemployment Insurance act, will not be dropped from the work relief rolls until March 1, according to an announcement from national headquarters of work relief administration in Washington. In a former order the workers who are eligible to benefits were to be severed from WPA as of Feb. 1. The change in time of severance, it was said, was to permit the 22 states where social security laws became effective this year to set up administration of the benefits.

RANCH BURGLARIZED—A. L. Kavanagh, owner of a ranch at Bolsa Chico road and the state highway, Westminster, reported to Sheriff Logan Jackson that Kavanagh ranch had been burglarized of property worth approximately $150. Kavanagh said that had occurred last week. Deputy Sheriffs G. F. McKelvey and Bob Steinberger are investigating.

SMITH FUNERAL HELD—Funeral services for Mrs. Clara Hull Smith, who died last Wednesday at her home, 1137 Twenty-first street, Santa Monica, were held today at 2:30 p. m. at the graveside in Inglewood Park cemetery. Mrs. Smith was 58 years of age, was born at Westminster, Orange county, and had lived in Southern California all her life. Her home had been in Santa Monica for the last 15 years. She leaves her husband, Foster S. Smith; her father, Thomas C. Hull, and two sisters, Mrs. J. B. Bristol and Miss Nattie Hull.

downward so that workmen can see only the man's feet. Officials said a body in the water at Huntington Beach would be inclined to wash toward Newport Beach.

Workmen tried in vain last night for two hours to recover the body. Those among the workers were Harold Caldwell, employe at the Newport Beach postmaster's office; Thomas Boucher, harbormaster; Jack Summers, Newport police officer; Jan Briscoe, assistant fire chief; J. Hemstreet, Johnny Lugo and J. Corbin, lifeguards.

Today Frank Crocker, Newport fire chief, took charge of the work of recovering the body, said to have been in the water eight days. Deputy Coroner Bert Castelnau went to the scene today to assist in the investigation.

attended as observers. Supervisor Harry D. Riley, hospital committee man for the board, also attended, as did District Attorney W. F. Menton, representing the county. Attorneys L. W. Blodgett and Thomas Kuchel were present, representing the baby's parents.

Testimony Heard
Testimony of the death causes came in the report of Dr. Elizabeth W. Tock, autopsy surgeon, who appeared at the inquest, held under direction of Coroner Earl R. Abbey at the Bundschuh mortuary.

The tragedy, as reviewed by testimony from witnesses, came when the sheet, draped over an improvised framework projecting from the head of the bed, caught fire from a red hot electric plate, on which was sitting a can containing tincture of benzoin and water, used in the inhalation treatment.

The child had been given sedatives to quiet against his awakening and disturbing the equipment. The electrical equipment itself, it was said, was of a type still in use, though outmoded by more modern equipment for the purpose.

Screams Heard
When burned by the flames, the baby awoke and screamed, its cries attracting a nurse, Miss Ruth Curti, who was in another room, about 50 feet distant, according to reports of the accident. The nurse carried the child from the flaming bed and extinguished the fire, which had caught the baby's clothing.

Members of the coroner's jury were: George Meiser, foreman; Ray Smith, Carl B. Bridgford, R. B. Hughes, Florence Filer, Tom Pangloss, Robert Julian and Fred Strauss.

AWARD BRIDGE CONTRACT
SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 22. (UP)—Contract for widening three bridges on state route 60 in Los Angeles county, across Corral, Solstice and Escondido creeks about 16 miles north of Santa Monica, was under way today by the state department of public works, J. southern California all her life. Her husband, Roy Baird, and two sisters, Mrs. Marie Rinder and Mrs. D. Draper, survive her.

Members and friends of Santa Ana's new $75,000 First Presbyterian church today were looking forward to the opening of "Dedication Week" activities at 5 p. m. Sunday when the first of a series of special events will be held.

Tomorrow will mark the dedication of the Emma Rankin memorial organ and the Harry H. Hall memorial chimes, according to the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, Presbyterian pastor, who has arranged the various programs for the coming week.

Organ Recital
Appearance of Clarence Mader, noted Los Angeles organist will be a highlight of the Sunday afternoon program, the Rev. Mr. McFarland said. He will present an organ recital featuring "Ave Maria," "Evening Song," "Choral in B minor," and "Toccata on the Choral: 'Good News from Heaven.'"

Mader, who is minister of music at the Los Angeles Immanuel Presbyterian church, has given recitals throughout the East and is considered one of the finest organ soloists in the nation.

Numerous Speakers
Other special "Dedication Week" services will be held next Monday, Wednesday, and Friday evening, climaxing with final ceremonies at a 5 o'clock service Sunday, Jan. 30.

During the week numerous speakers will appear on the various programs including the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, O. H. Barr, T. E. Stephenson, R. B. Newcom, Dr. H. A. Johnston of Anaheim, and the Rev. Graham C. Hunter of Fullerton.

Special music for the church activities during the coming week include a program by the Presbyterian choir Monday night; special music by a combined choir of all Santa Ana churches Wednesday evening; and appearance of the Cantando club next Friday evening. All musical programs are being arranged by Whitford L. Hall, musical director of the new church.

Peter B. Glover, Former Bailiff, Called by Death

Peter B. Glover, 51, of 326 Stanley street, Long Beach, who was court bailiff and deputy sheriff in Santa Ana 20 years ago, died today at his home.

Plans for funeral services, being arranged by Winbigger funeral chapel attendants, will be announced later.

As a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, 37th regiment, volunteers service, as corporal for three years in the Indiana infantry, Company A, Corp 14, Mr. Glover was a veteran of 23 battles. He was detailed as a sharpshooter.

Born in Jasper county, Ind., Mr. Glover came to California 40 years ago and after living in Orange county for many years, went to Long Beach to live, 16 years ago. During his earlier years, he was a rancher.

Surviving are the widow, Jole M. Glover, Long Beach; one son, three daughters and three grand children.

"Grand Old Man" Of Sea Is Called

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(UP)—Andrew Furuseth, the "Grand Old Man of the Sea," who led the sailors of this country into the labor movement and presided over the International Seamen's Union during most of its history, died today of old age. He was 84.

Furuseth, one of the most colorful men developed by organized labor during its growing period, was a giant weatherbeaten man who put to sea in a windjammer from his native Norway and sailed before the mast on ships of all nations.

JAPANESE REVEAL CHINESE WAR PLANS

terms which Japan offered China through German mediation, and which China rejected by its failure to respond. The terms were (1) China to abandon her "pro-Communist, anti-Japanese and anti-Manchukuo policies and collaborate with Japan and Manchukuo against Communism; (2) Establishment of demilitarized zones in China; (3) Establishment of an economic agreement embracing China, Japan and Manchukuo; (4) Payment of war indemnities to Japan by China.

Prince Konoye, said that the end of the conflict in China was not in sight. He praised Japan's anti-Communist treaty with Italy and Germany and urged united perseverance in bringing the war to an end.

CHINESE CLAIM NEW VICTORY SHANGHAI, Jan. 22.—(UP)—

Chinese guerrilla units claimed today to have defeated the Japanese in the Pootung area, west of Shanghai.

Although direct communication with Pootung was out of the question, Chinese reports asserted that fighting continued and that the guerrilla units attacked in force around Nanhuihsien and Fengshin. Both are within 20 miles of the center of Shanghai.

The Chinese were said to have "battered" 300 Japanese soldiers. The guerrilla units last week captured 270 Japanese prisoners in the area around Chuansha, about 14 miles west of Shanghai across the Whangpo river.

The reports from Chuansha indicated that the fighting there had halted and that the Japanese were negotiating for the surrender of the Chinese irregulars. Release of Japanese prisoners was included in the negotiations.

In Shanghai the Japanese were expected to press their demands for greater authority in the foreign sections, including the foreign-controlled International Settlement and the French Concession, following the assassination of a pro-Japanese native.

Yang Pu-Yuan, prominent member of the Shanghai Citizens Association, was killed in the French concession by a Chinese terrorist.

HIGH COURT WILL HEAR UNION PLEA

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Attorney Nathan W. Math said tonight Justice Charles Evans Hughes had signed an order opening the way for the United States Supreme Court to decide whether a worker can be discharged if he refuses to join a labor union with which his employer has signed a closed shop agreement.

Math's law firm represents six New York subway workers who challenged in court the right of the New York Rapid Transit Corporation and three other subsidiaries of the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corporation to enter into a closed shop contract with the Transport Workers Union of America (C. I. O.).

John McLeod Is Named on Board

John McLeod, Placentia rancher, has been appointed a member of the board of trustees for Placentia unified school district, succeeding E. H. Power, who resigned recently. It was made known today by County School Superintendent Ray Adkins' office.

Adkins made the appointment of McLeod to the vacancy on the Placentia board in response to representations from Placentia school patrons urging selection of McLeod.

Whitford L. Hall, minister of music at First Presbyterian church, who is in charge of arrangements for musical programs to be presented at the church during the formal "Dedication Week" ceremonies that start at 5 p. m. tomorrow. Features of the dedicatory series will include a program by the Presbyterian Cathedral choir Monday and another by massed choirs of all Santa Ana churches Wednesday.

LEGAL BATTLE IS BLAMED FOR RIFT

Santa Ana realtor entrusted by the court with sale of the ranch, seeks a bidder for the property who will raise the $15,000 offer of Roy, Ben and Martha. Goode had sold the place to the three heirs January 4, but at a hearing to confirm the sale yesterday, Judge H. G. Ames ordered the sale vacated and instructed Goode to try again.

The court some week ago ruled, in the suit, that the ranch could not be suitably partitioned, as claimed by Roy, Ben and Martha, and ordered it sold, as demanded by Wiley, Rhoda and Laura. Goode's subsequent sale of the ranch to the three defendants, included the provision that all rights on the property should be reserved to all six children.

At yesterday's hearing to confirm the sale, appraisers testified that the property was worth from $20,000 to $23,000. So Judge Ames suggested that another offer should be sought. He asked if the defendant's $18,000 offer would be held open. Roy Justice declared that the offer would not stand, whereupon Judge Ames lectured him sharply, and ordered the sale vacated.

MORE WORK SOUGHT FOR U. S. NAVY YARD

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(UP)—Washington congressmen today drafted an urgent appeal to President Roosevelt for allocation of additional work to the Puget Sound navy yard to relieve a critical situation at Bremerton, Wash.

The congressmen met in the office of Sen. Homer Bone, D., Wash. Sen. Lewis B. Schwellenbach, D., Wash., was represented by his secretary, and the conference was also attended by Reps. John M. Coffey, Warren G. Magnuson and Monrad C. Wallgren.

The delegation's plea informed the President that more than 1000 men had been laid off at Bremerton in the last five months and more are to be discharged. Shipbuilding and repairs, they said, represents Bremerton's only industry, and unless additional work is allocated the yard, in an already critical situation will grow worse.

ART DISPLAYED BY S. A. LIBRARY

Twelve prints of the best in modern French art are on exhibition today at the public library, it was announced by Miss Ethel Walker, librarian.

Representing the art movement that started in the first half of the 19th century with the painting of Cezanne and ended with the work of Picasso, the prints are splendid examples of a period that, in the opinion of art critics, will rival that of the Italian art during the Renaissance.

Special Selection

Loaned by Raymond and Raymond Galleries of Los Angeles, the prints show the advance made in printing in their faithful reproduction of color and texture.

A special collection of books on modern art, including biographies of several artists, criticism and memoirs has been set aside at the library in connection with the print exhibition.

Following are the artists and the prints:

Degas, Three Dancers; Gauguin, Beach Riders; Cezanne, L'Estagne; Van Gogh, Iris; Renoir, La Moulin de la Gallette; Manet, Portrait of a Young Girl; Sisley, The Loing at Moret; Van Gogh, Portrait of a Young Man; Pissarro, Red Roofs; Monet, Spring; Van Gogh, Fishing Boats; and Cezanne, Chestnut Tree Avenue.

MITCHELL CLEARED IN TRAFFIC CRASH

From the evidence found, John Clark, 26, Los Angeles man who died Thursday from injuries received Tuesday night, in an accident, failed to make a boulevard stop just before his car and one driven by Ralph Mitchell, 42, Tustin, collided at State Route 171 and Commonwealth avenue, four miles west of Fullerton. That was a coroner's jury decision today at Backs, Terry and Campbell funeral chapel, Anaheim.

Mitchell was exonerated from criminal negligence in Clark's death. Clark, son of the late Harry L. Clark, Oakland newspaper printing press executive, who was shot to death by a maniac on an Oakland ferry eight years ago, will be buried in Los Angeles. His body was removed to Reeves mortuary, Los Angeles, for final rites. Coroner Earl Abbey was in charge of today's inquest.

RANCHER DIES IN WILLIAMS CANYON

Jerome V. Schulz, rancher residing in Williams canyon, according to reports reaching here. Schulz, it is said, was alone when stricken. Mrs. Schulz later discovered his body near the well on the place, and notified the authorities.

Reputy Sheriff A. W. Fullerton answered a call to the Schulz ranch to conduct an investigation.

Scott Rites Will Be Held Monday

TOASTMASTERS PERFECT PLANS FOR BANQUET

Charter for the 100th Toastmaster club recently organized in Santa Ana and a demonstration of a typical Toastmaster club meeting will be given Saturday when more than 200 men and women from all Southern California gather at the Ebbl club.

Presided over by Judge Kenneth E. Morrison, the meeting will open at 7 p. m. with a banquet. Music will be provided by Russell Thompson's Hawaiian trio, following the address of welcome by Mayor Fred C. Rowland. Ralph C. Smedley, founder of the Toastmaster movement that has spread throughout the world, will give a brief resume of the history of the club.

Typical Meeting
The newly organized "Century" club, the third Toastmaster organization in the city will receive the 100th charter in Toastmaster International from Clark Chamberlain, of Huntington Park, past president of the international organization.

Highlight of the occasion will be a demonstration of a typical Toastmaster meeting. Included in the program will be speeches by Glenn Tibbal on "Budgeting Time"; William Iverson, "Town Hall Politics"; and Dr. Merrill Hollingsworth, "Blood Transfusions." Criticism of the speeches will be made by Fred McCandless, E. M. Sundquist, and Robert Speed. Sheldon Hayden, of Santa Monica, educational director of Toastmasters International, will act as general critic.

The public is invited to attend the meeting and reservations will be accepted until Wednesday, at the Y. M. C. A.

VETERANS URGE JOB DISCRETION

Employment preference for United States citizens resident in Orange county, over non-residents and aliens, was urged in a resolution adopted last night by members of Ernest L. Kellogg Post No. 1650, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The post's delegates of the Orange County Council, V.F.W., were instructed to ask the council to adopt a similar resolution. The action by the post is the first step in the organization's movement to provide employment for veterans who are without work.

Members of the post listened to a radio address by Mrs. Bessley Clark, president of California Congress of Parents and Teachers, in which she urged support of the V. F. W. program for the preservation of peace, and the abolition of all war except in defense of the nation.

The program last night was the first of a series of nine to be broadcast weekly. On Tuesday night at 8:15 o'clock, Harry Edwards, secretary of the Orange County Veterans' Welfare Board, will deliver an address on activities of that board and its service to disabled veterans.

MISSIONARY WORK WILL BE SUBJECT

Talks Missions

One of Orange county's best known organizations, the Cecelian Singers are preparing for their Annual Concert to be given this year at Orange in the Orange High School Auditorium on the evening of Feb. 8.

This group has been in active concert work in the community for over three years, and has been the source of much pleasure and inspiration to music lovers.

Includes 40 Voices
Directed by Halstead McCormick and accompanied by Esther Vogt Gordon, the organization is comprised of 40 voices. Miss Laura Joiner is president and Miss Elizabeth Morgan, secretary of the club.

An interesting program has been arranged with Louis Silva, eminent tenor of Los Angeles as soloist. He has made several successful appearances in Orange county, and has received much favorable comment on past performances.

CHURCH LEADER TO PREACH HERE
A missionary program in the morning and an afternoon service to dedicate the new church organ forms the program for a "red letter" day tomorrow at Santa Ana Foursquare church, Fairview and Sycamore streets.

At 11 a. m. Dr. Sidney Correll, of Kenosha, Wis., will be the speaker at Santa Ana Foursquare church Sunday at 11 a. m., his subject dealing with missions.

The new electric organ, a gift to the church, will be dedicated at 2 p. m. with an organ concert by Joseph Wayne, of Los Angeles, and a program by local talent, as follows:

Duet, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," John Haskell and Ruth Lykke; solo, "The Lost Chord," John Haskell; trio, "The Green Cathedral," Miss Ruth Coe, Miss Mildred Eckward, Mrs. Irene Newland; reading, a group of selections by Miss Emma Williams Mohler.

Dr. Correll will deliver an evangelistic sermon at 7 p. m. A special musical program has been arranged. Dr. Correll will sing and yodel. The public is invited.

Lake Arrowhead Activities Grow

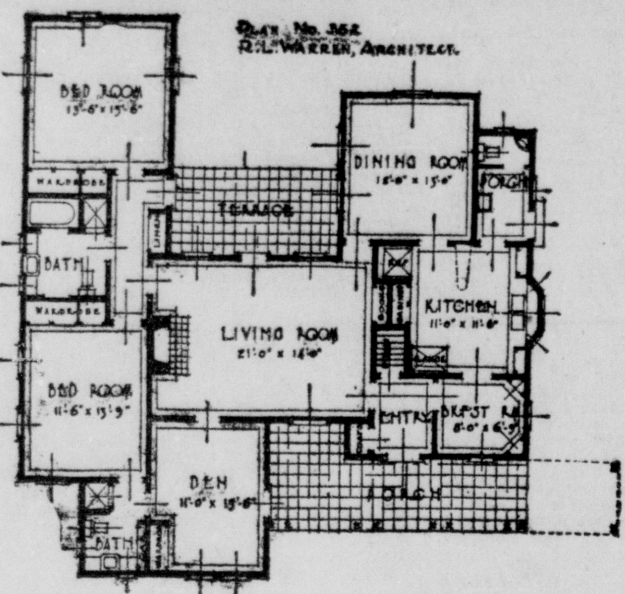

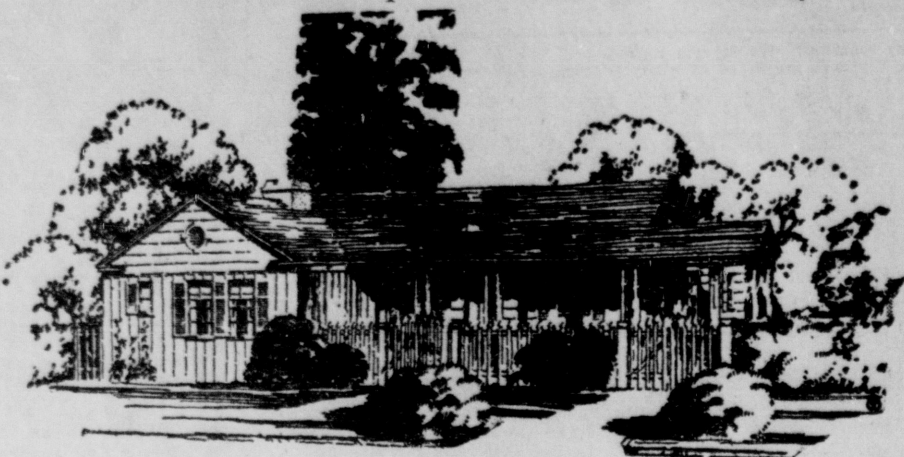

Marking an all-time high in sales, rentals, building permits, hotel guests and transient count, the year 1937 ended with an accelerated rate of activity which augurs well for 1938 at Lake Arrowhead, according to figures just released by the Arrowhead Lake Corporation.

Total sales at the mountain resort for 1937 showed an increase of more than 32 per cent over the previous year.

Total valuation of building permits, lagging somewhat in the early part of the year, increased greatly in the fall, to bring the final figure to $227,000, or 9 per cent more than for the previous year. Actual valuation is estimated to exceed $300,000.

Through observations of the moons of Jupiter, it first was learned that the passage of light through space is not instantaneous.

1938 PROGRAM IS CHECKED BY REALTY BOARD

Outline of plans for the coming year and the election of Ann Thompson to the board of directors were the features of a business meeting of the Santa Ana Realty Board at the Rossmore cafe yesterday afternoon.

Following a motion of W. F. Croddy, the board voted for the appointment of a committee to revise the by-laws of the organization under the direction of President Ray Goodcell.

Plan Reports

Councilman Ernie Layton reported progress in the city council concerning the hiring of an expert planner to work with the county planning commission.

W. F. Croddy, reporting for the parking meter committee, stated that the committee had been studying the situation and will have a full report within a short time.

After discussion by the board it was voted to disburse with all initiation fees and maintain the customary yearly dues.

NEED FOR APARTMENTS, SINGLE FAMILY RESIDENCES HERE CITED

BY RAY GOODCELL

President of The Santa Ana Realty Board

From the standpoint of the renter something should start popping before long—something in the way of housing—providing more and better accommodations. The greatest need is for single family residences and modest apartments, renting from $20 to $35 per unit.

Probably the only way to supply such a need right now is the construction of homes for those who can afford to buy or build for personal use, releasing the older and less valuable properties now occupied for the use of new tenants who desire to rent.

Building Costs Cited

Until a higher rental can be demanded, building single family residences strictly for income purposes may not be highly profitable. This is especially true now, but may be only temporarily so, because of the present cost of building being slightly out of proportion to the available source of income of the average renter, or at least what the renter thinks he should pay for rent.

However, even under these conditions, it offers greater profit than similar sound investments.

Advantages Cited

Owners, investors, speculators, should not hesitate to improve vacant lots. On the contrary, they should by all means take advantage of the easy terms and low interest rate offered.

Looking about, you will find that there are few if any unsold new structures in Santa Ana or Orange county. There is no available selection for the bona fide purchaser to choose from. This condition is not even normal. The result is that it tends to restrict sales, slow down activity, keep land values low, and obstruct progress. It looks as though a very active city real estate market could be created by building more salable houses of all classes and that would stimulate all types of business.

At the recent annual banquet of the North Hollywood Real Estate board, Assistant Real Estate Commissioner Thomas Murphy installed the board's new officers for the coming year. Inducted were Harold A. Beeman, as president, N. L. Martin, vice president and William McCann and Joseph Bray, directors of the California Real Estate association.

Past President Harry Alcorn was program chairman. Sixty persons were in attendance. Grover T. Russell, president of the California Real Estate association was principal speaker.

Housing Concern Picks Committees

Ten advisory committees for Low Cost Housing, Inc., have been announced by O. R. Angellio, former farm loan registrar for the western area and now president of the corporation.

Paul R. Williams was appointed chairman of the committee on Construction and Design.

MILLIONS FOR BUILDING SEEN UNDER NEW LAW

Predictions that "millions of building dollars" will be released starting next week with the passage of the new Federal Housing Administration bill that will come before the Senate were made today by Building Inspector Harold Rasmussen.

"I feel certain the bill will be ratified by the Senate," Rasmussen said. "If it is, there is certain to be a release of millions of dollars in the country by prospective home builders who have been waiting for the final verdict. The reduction of the required down payment from 20 per cent to 10 per cent of the total price will enable thousands who were unable to make the 20 per cent payment, to own their own home."

Cites Opportunity

"It is a recognized fact in civil government that home owners are the most desirable type of citizens, and the passage of the F.H.A. bill will give to people of modest means an opportunity to own homes that never has presented itself before."

"It is my personal opinion that the decided slump in real estate and building during the last few months has been partially due to the fact that prospective builders have been awaiting the outcome of the bill."

"Permits in the building department for January, 1938, for the first 21 days are nearly $33,000 less than a similar period for 1937. Permits issued are more than one-third off from last year this time. We of the building department are hoping that the passage of the revised F.H.A. bill will help to remedy the situation," Rasmussen concluded.

FIXTURES REAL FIT

Notable progress has been made by the plumbing industry in recent years in the development of space-saving fixtures, the plumbing and heating industries bureau observes.

The new fixtures are in line with the general trend toward compactness in housing.

The object of the manufacturers sanitary fitting thing . . . for the bath is a tale of the past. Color makes the modern bath. Not too dark a major color since you will want good light reflection values. Here beads are shaved, faces are powdered and there must be light and plenty of it to avoid butchered chins or floury noses.

THE HOME DECORATOR

For example, get some gray paint . . . there are shades and shades of it, each more striking and appealing than the last . . . but be careful, get a warm soft gray plenty of depth. Your paint dealer will help you gladly in your choice. Picture the walls of soft gray paint; dark, iron gray linoleum on the floor lined off with a thin dark red stripe; your ceilings matching the walls; the ever important fixtures a dark red . . . and this can easily be managed with your own two hands by the means of a reliable lacquer or enamel; your towels monogrammed in dark red . . . this last needn't be an expensive item either—plain white toweling is not expensive and the monogramming can be done at home; and the last touch—an oiled silk shower curtain with streaks and splashes of your same red patterning it off.

There you are. A room as invigorating as your morning shower and as cheerful as a day in June.

The painting job isn't a wearisome task by any means. You can have your painter do it, or do it yourself. It takes care . . . not inborn talent. Begin at the top. Scrub the old surfaces "clean as a whistle" and rinse off all soapy film. Scrape off loose scales of old paint and fill the cracks or holes with patching plaster. Let it dry; put on a coat of wall-primer, dip your brush into a can of semi-lustre (incidentally, it's inexpensive and durable) and proceed to a smooth, satiny, tight finish that washes almost as easily as a China plate. Simple as your A B C's.

Truly, providing a lovely, colorful bathroom in faultless finish is one of the nicest compliments you can pay a guest in your home and it will be a source of constant satisfaction to you and your family.

Corner Property Brings $75,000

Gus Bauer, of San Diego, has purchased from Henry Boos the northeast corner of Vermont avenue and Eighth street, Los Angeles, for approximately $75,000.

This property, under lease for 99 years, measures 135 feet by 51 feet and is improved with a one-story and basement store building occupied by the Owl Drug company and five other tenants. Clyde C. Howard of Ingle Barr, Inc., handled the negotiations in conjunction with Ralph Williams of Los Angeles and John G. Clark, of the Ralph O. Williams company San Diego broker.

F. H. A. LUMBER RULING LAUDED

The recent action of the Federal Housing Administration in specifying the use of grade-marked lumber in homes financed with Federal insured loans was commended yesterday by T. C. Combs, Los Angeles manager of the West Coast Lumbermen's association.

This is the manufacturers' association which has been furnishing W.C.L.A. stamped wood on the Pacific Coast for years and is officially recognized as the grade markers of Douglas fir, says the report.

In voicing the group's appreciation of F.H.A. action, Mr. Combs stated his belief the grade-marked promotion program would be greatly accelerated not only in the Southland but throughout the nation.

Incidentally, the lumber executive urged that the new minimum standards for homes constructed under F.H.A. loans should be observed by all builders of new dwellings regardless of the method of financing.

An opportunity to see the most advanced thought in store front stylings will be afforded the business men of Santa Ana Wednesday at the Annex Service Garage, Third and Spurgeon streets, from 11 a. m. to 6 p. m., when the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company exhibits miniatures of modern store fronts of glass.

The project is intended to bring to architects, merchants, and property owners all over the United States, the possibilities of store front modernization as a means to increased prosperity. The remodeling and modernizing of store fronts has gained considerable impetus during the depression. Merchants have resorted to new ways to attract customers, and better ways to keep old ones. New designs for store fronts, making them more attractive, has been a method they have employed in this.

Complete Details
The exhibit consists of twelve model store fronts built to scale and of actual building materials. Attractive features in the display are futuristic designs and modernistic lighting effects. These miniatures are complete and accurate to the most minute detail and embody the latest developments in store front design, construction and lighting. Plans of all models shown will be available to architects. The aim is not in any way to supplant the services of the local architects, but rather to cooperate with them at all times.

The exhibition is planned to cover most types of stores and shops, the following and similar businesses being represented: bakery, gift shop, grocery or food store, hardware, shoe store, haberdashery, drug store, bar, tobacco store, dry goods, women's accessory store, jewelry, five and ten cent store, and perfume shop.

This exhibition is on a nationwide tour and will not be shown again in this vicinity. An invitation to see this unique display is extended to all property owners as well as merchants, builders, and contractors interested in modernization of commercial property.

FORWARD TREND IS REVEALED IN U. S. REAL ESTATE SURVEY

The survey of residential rents in Los Angeles just released by the bureau of labor statistics of the United States department of labor, gives promising evidence of the start of a pronounced forward movement in real estate activity, according to Leonard F. Hammel, manager of the real estate department, Union Bank and Trust company and editor of the Los Angeles Blue Book of Land Values.

QUESTIONS Before the House

By Wilbur Barr

Two Roofs for Your Home—Its Own and the Sky

"Happiest is the home life, unrestrained by four walls, that overflows at will into an outdoor living room. A life more gracious, free and friendly—active or tranquil but always safeguarded by protective privacy.

Join this healthful modern movement. Some outdoors—for the rest or play, barbecue parties, sunbaths and gardening. Give your home two roofs—its own and the sky. Expand it from foundation lines to lot lines.

This new design for living climaxes a swift transition—from Victorian "front parlor" and "back yard" to our common sense home plans of today; first, the passing of Old Dobbin, outmoding barnyard and alley; then, universal motorization, with ceaseless traffic replacing the casual passer-by.

Now—as depicted on the cover—entrances are more formal, front lawns usually smaller. The garage, no longer a transformed stable, has been moved up front adjoining or within the house structure. Beyond, screened from public gaze, are the spacious outdoor living quarters, their informality reserved for family and friends.

Visualize your outdoor home as a quiet retreat from the busy world a pleasing social background, a safe haven for the children and their pets. Easily, inexpensively you can transform the mental image into a living picture—a picture appropriately and permanently framed in harmonious fences.

Fences are in vogue for utility and charm. "Fences of wood construction are more in demand today than at any other time in the past twenty years, say the editors of "House and Garden," who are constantly in touch with architectural trends. The fence revival that is sweeping the country is attributed to two major factors: an overwhelming return to Early American architecture and an ever-growing appreciation of outdoor living.

Wide variance is seen in designs for fences and accessories, but with universal agreement among architects that they should harmonize with the style of the house. Both Colonial and contemporary ("Modern") designs, the most popular today, feature simplicity. Naturally the same characteristic is reflected in fences, gates and arbors. Gingerbread scrolls have given way to classic dignity—as expressed in plain pickets, post-and-rail combinations, carefully spaced rails or restrained lattice patterns.

Too, "the beauty of usefulness" commands new respect. Fences—high medium and low—are planned for specific purposes, according to individual needs; privacy, protection, the screening of undesired views; as windbreakers or as back-grounds for flowers and shrubs; sometimes merely to complete a charming "homestead" such as you can create by extending your home to all you own."

From the booklet "Extend Your Home to All You Own," published by the California Redwood Association. Your lumberman will be pleased to furnish you with a copy.

BUILDING INCOME

With building permits totaling $350,000, Porterville's building permit volume in 1937 established a new high there. Twenty-six residences were constructed.

NATIONAL REAL ESTATE FETE SET FOR JAN. 26

Los Angeles again is well represented in the list of officers of the National Association of Real Estate Boards and its various institutes, divisions and councils to be installed in office for this year, at a dinner meeting at the Union League club in Chicago next Wednesday.

At that time Paul E. Stark of Madison, Wis., president of the association during 1937, will hand the gavel to the incoming president, Joseph W. Catharine of Brooklyn.

Prominent Leaders

Los Angeles for years has been prominent in the affairs of the national realty organization.

Col. William May Garland was twice president of it and is a member of its executive committee. Col. Harry H. Culver was president. George D. Robertson for a long time was a regional vice president.

Officers to be inducted into office along with President-elect Catharine are: treasurer, Mark Levy, Chicago, re-elected; executive vice president, Herbert U. Nelson, Chicago; vice presidents, Great Lakes region, Newton C. Farr, Chicago; Northwest region, William A. Eastman, Seattle; South Central region, David Neiswanger, Topeka; Southeast region, Frank C. Owens, Atlanta, re-elected; Central Atlantic region, Donald T. Pomroy, Syracuse, N. Y.; New England region, Everett N. Slade, Fall River, Mass.; North Central region, E. W. Bedford, Omaha; Southwest region, D. D. Watson, Oakland, Cal.

In National Roster

The list of new officials of various branches of the national body includes the following Los Angeles residents.

Charles B. Shattuck, member of the governing council, American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers; George L. Schmutz, re-elected vice president for the Southwest region of the appraisers' institute; B. O. Miller, member of the governing council, Institute of Real Estate Management; Leroy Ackley, vice president for Southwest region of the brokers' division; William T. Richardson, member of consultation committee, land developers and home builders division; Glenn D. Williamson, member executive committee, Realtor Secretaries Council.

HOME BUILDING VOLUME JUMPS

With an increase over last year of almost 100 per cent in new residential construction, Leimert Park in Los Angeles during 1937 has experienced its best year in more than five years, according to a report from E. L. Kirk, vice-president and director of sales for the Walter H. Leimert company, developers of the area.

Available statistics show that to date residential buildings representing an aggregate investment of $1,476,500 have been completed or started, almost doubling last year's figure.

Income Property Grows In Demand

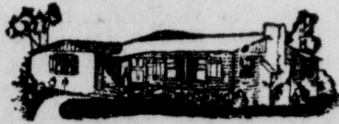

Greater demand for multiple dwelling and other income real estate than at any other time in the past six to eight months now is one of the major characteristics of the Southern California realty situation, according to reports from realty circles.

Recent weeks have been marked by steadily increasing response to income-realty opportunities, according to Edgar Seelman, rent broker active in marketing diversified residential and business income properties throughout the metropolitan area.

RELIGIOUS HISTORY And Its MAKERS

AUGUSTINE, THE WORLDLY WISE

(353 — 430)

It was in Augustine, strangely enough, whose knowledge of the ways of the world made him a sophisticate early in life, that the ancient church reached its highest religious attainment. He was to be the father of much that was most characteristic in mediaeval Roman Catholicism and was to be the spiritual ancestor, no less, of much in the Reformation. His theology, though buttressed by the Scriptures, philosophy and ecclesiastical tradition, was so largely rooted in his own experience as to make his story more than usually the interpretation of the man.

Augustine was born in Tagaste, Numidia in 354. His father, Patricius, was a Pagan while his mother, Monica, was a devout Christian. In Augustine there were two natures, one passionate and sensuous, the other eagerly high-minded and truth-seeking.

He was a brilliant boy and his ambitious father, delighted with his progress in the local school, sent him to Carthage when he was 16 where he remained for three years. For several years his life was unsettled. He drifted about emotionally and intellectually questioning and tasting many ways of living—even to joining a group of wild youth who called themselves "The Wreckers."

When about 17, he took a mistress and to them a son, Adeodatus, whom he dearly loved, was born. For 12 years they lived together until, at his mother's wish, he became engaged to a woman two years under the marriageable age, but of his own social standing. He regretfully dismissed his mistress and, because of the extreme youth of his betrothed, he entered into an affair with another woman.

If the sensuous Augustine was thus early aroused, the truth-seeking Augustine was speedily awakened. When 19, the study of Cicero's works aroused in him his inordinate love of truth. He began to study the Bible but its style displeased him and soon he gave it up. He strove to attain the highest good but failed to find satisfaction in the various schools of thought of the day. He first joined a sect of Manichaeans, a mystical sect forbidden by law which strived to combine Buddha the Hindu, Mani the Persian and Jesus the Jew and which got nowhere. He wandered then into the Neo-Platonism where he saw in the spiritual world the only real world. To know God, he considered to be the highest of blessings. This new philosophy, which always colored Augustine's teachings, made it possible for him to accept Christianity later.

His search for truth took him into many countries but he finally became a teacher of rhetoric in Carthage and Rome. The ability he evinced induced the Prefect of Rome to send him to Milan to teach. Here he heard Ambrose and was converted to Christianity. His mother, who never lost faith in him, and who had followed him in all his wanderings, witnessed his baptism. On the journey homeward Monica died and the sorrowing Augustine disposed of his property and began an ascetic life in Tagaste, later becoming bishop to the church of Hippo-Regius.

While the romance of Augustine's life came in the early years, the value of it to the Christian church came in his later years. He waged a relentless war on the various sects of the day and his writings produced amid the heat of many controversies have made him immortal and have tempered the theology of all after-time. His celebrated autobiography, "Confessions," has become a religious classic while his book "The City of God" was the first comprehensive doctrinal system of the Christian Church. This last book served as a lifeboat as well as a storehouse of ecclesiastical knowledge. In it he developed the theory of redemption and the Trinity, the freedom of the will and presented for the first time the idea of predestination.

He is, perhaps, the most prominent leader in the development of the doctrine and to many the successor of the apostles. Luther and Calvin, are essentially Augustinian in their doctrines of sin, grace and predestination. Indeed his conception of the Trinity became determinative of Western thinking.

The closing years of his life were troubled. He saw the Vandal's overrunning North Africa, and was compelled to lead in the desperate defense of his beloved Hippo, where he had lived so many years, but he died in 430, before the city fell and was thus saved a final grief.

Next week: Gregory The Great.

ARRANGE REPORTS ON LIONS' ACTIVITIES

STATE TRAFFIC PLAN HAILED AS SAFETY MOVE

The state's program to increase the size of all traffic lanes of new state highways in the future to 11 feet will reduce traffic accidents which result from sideswipe or head-on crashes by 50 per cent.

That was the prophecy of A. D. Griffin, assistant engineer of Division 7, comprising Orange, Los Angeles and Ventura counties, when he spoke here last night at a meeting of the Orange County Engineers' club, attended by 90 persons at the Green Cat cafe.

Tells of Racket
At the same meeting, Frank C. Balfour, supervising right-of-way agent for the state, introduced facts concerning a new "racket" being practiced in the state when land is sought for construction of new state highways. He said a group of "racketeers" makes it a practice to go to property owners when they realize they are about to be contacted for purchases of right-of-way over their property, sign them up for handling of the "deal" with the state and then "hold up" the state for large right-of-way prices.

Balfour, who acted as honorary toastmaster, said the right-of-way "racketeers," appraisers and attorneys, have appraised property valued by the state at $800, at $13,000, property valued at $10,000, at $100,000, and so on.

Don Warren, bridge engineer for Division 7 brought out facts regarding a new design for concrete bridges which probably will cost no more than the old wooden bridges of which the state inherited 400 which are not safe to carry a 10-ton load.

Welcomed By Mayor
E. T. Scott maintenance engineer told of operations of the two traffic line marking machines, one of them from Whittier. They are capable of marking 15 miles of lines daily in light-traffic areas. A. N. George, construction engineer, told of difficulties arising from moisture which remains beneath pavements due to lack of evaporation and told of Death Valley highways where desert flowers bloom more abundantly adjacent to the highways because of the moisture beneath.

Mayor Fred C. Rowland gave the address of welcome to the Division 7 visitors while R. L. Patterson, Newport Beach city engineer, president of the Orange county club, presided.

Veterans Planning 3d District Fete

Members of Ernest L. Kellogg Post No. 1680, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the post auxiliary are making final preparations today for the Third District breakfast to be served at 9 a. m. tomorrow in K. P. hall.

Commander James Sullivan said advance reservations for the breakfast indicate that more than 200 veterans and their guests will attend the affair. The breakfast will be prepared and served by members of the Auxiliary.

Following the breakfast members of the host post will go to Colton where a new post of the V. F. W. is to be instituted. Wesley Davis, of Orange, commander of the Third District, will officiate at the institution ceremony.

BRUISED IN FALL

William Schultz, 702 East Second street, Santa Ana, who fell from a tree here yesterday, was being treated at Santa Ana Valley hospital. He suffered severe bruises and some broken bones. X-ray examination of him was being made today.

Children In Need As Officers Hunt Missing Parents

Because their two small children need them badly, according to neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Houston, Placentia, today were the object of a state-wide search as missing persons, sheriff's officers revealed today.

The Houstons, according to the W. R. Milhouse family of Yorba Linda, in whose care the children were left by their parents, asked police aid, stating the children needed their mother.

Houston, oil well driller, and his wife left, saying they were going to shop in Los Angeles. He is described as 33, five feet, 11 inches tall, slim, having dark brown, curly hair. He was wearing brown suede jacket, brown trousers and black shoes. Mrs. Houston is five feet, five and one-half inches tall and has red hair.

Sheriff's officers today were asked to investigate the reported poisoning of several days in the Anaheim area, at request of T. W. Lawrence, South Clementine street, Anaheim. Mrs. Lawrence said her dog was the victim and a veterinarian told her strychnine had been found in the dog.

Ernest Wallace, Hollywood, was booked at county jail yesterday afternoon to begin serving a five-day term which was pronounced in Anaheim after a speeding conviction.

Thomas Rodriguez, 30, Ventura, was booked at county jail last night on a charge he entered the United States illegally.

Upon report of Merchant patrolman F. W. Lockhart, early today, Officers W. E. B. Sherwood and Herman Stahl investigated at the Virgil Morehouse service station, 1302 South Main, finding a front glass panel smashed and the cash register drawer open. It was not determined whether a loss had occurred or not.

Eugene Frisby, 1012 Kilson drive, told police a headlight lamp was stolen from his bicycle, parked at the high school gymnasium last night.

None was injured in a truck automobile accident at Fine and Orange avenues yesterday afternoon, police reported. A truck driven by William Sippel, Long Beach, and a car operated by Mrs. Fern Smith, 721 Wilson drive, collided. According to Officer Francis Thurston, Sippel told him Sippel's vision was obstructed by a post in the left corner of the truck cab and he did not see the car in time to stop.

FIGHT BRIBE CASE
PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 22.—(UP)—Constable Harry Gaskin and F. B. Witt, alleged gambler, both accused of bribery, asserted in a demurrer on file today the information against them failed to state sufficient facts for a cause of action.

They assertedly solicited a $50 bribe from C. J. Freeman, buffet operator, for "protection" of a poker game he was operating.

Fish have sensations of discomfort, but their pain nerves are not developed to as great a degree as in higher forms of life. For this reason, they suffer very slightly when hooked or speared.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
CONSTANCE CORBY—heroine;
BRET HARDESTY—hero;
RODNEY BRANDON—Connie's
 fiance;
KATIE BLYN—Connie's "double."

Yesterday: Having broken with Bret, Connie is about to board a train to leave the hills when suddenly her arms are pinned behind her, she is spun around.

CHAPTER XV
 "I TOLD you I'd never let you run away from me!" Bret said, for it was Bret, holding her fast, looking down into her eyes. "You may have done that to some other fellow—remember I told you I thought you'd run away from someone?—but you're not going to run away from me!"

Apparently she was not, as she could hear the rumble of the midnight train, shaking the little platform as it went on. "How did you know I was running away?" Connie asked.

"Instinct, perhaps," Bret laughed. "I've been plenty miserable these last days, honey. So miserable I couldn't stand it any longer. I felt I had to see you tonight. I rode by, got Elsie to come to the door—and made her tell me where you had gone. She gave me your message, sweetheart."

"And you came after me!" That meant that he was not afraid, that her money did not matter, that he loved her, regardless! "I'd have followed you to the end of the earth," he said. "I've been pig-headed, stubborn—and yes, I reckon I did forget that love is the biggest thing in the world, more important than all the gold in it. But you must admit, dear, it gave me quite a jolt to learn who you really are."

As he talked he had led her back to his car; now he tossed her bag into the back, held open the door for her with a flourish and a bow.

"Where are we going?" Connie asked. Not that she cared. She was so deliriously happy that she did not care about anything. Bret had forgiven her for her deception; he understood why she had acted as she had—she was here at her side now, which was the most important thing of all.

"Where?" He turned to look down at her, so little and lovely, as he had said, at his side—the sweet curve of her cheek, the bright intensity of her eyes. "We're going to find the first justice of the peace that we can locate in this part of the country, and at this rather outlandish hour. We're going to rout him out of his nice warm bed, too, and tell him to get busy and change your name once more. For the last time, this . . ."

"Oh, Bret!" It was all that she could say, but it was enough.

He had not waited even for that much; he had switched on the ignition, thrown the little car into gear; they were speeding back, almost as fast as he must have come.

She gave a little sigh, nestled closer to him. Yes, that was all that counted. He loved her, because she was herself, just as she loved him because he was Bret Hardesty, no other. There was no rhyme nor reason in love; perhaps no logic. Yet she had been right when she had told Elsie it could surmount any obstacle, that it was greater than life itself.

IT was no easy task, as Bret had predicted to find a justice of the peace at that time of night. The first place they stopped it was impossible to arouse anyone, but at the next, Bret pounded on the door persistently until finally he succeeded in getting a response.

This was not the sort of wedding that Constance Corby, the richest girl in the world, should have had. Not the sort of wedding that Connie had dreamed of having one day. That would have been a gorgeous and lavish affair, with a thousand or more guests, flashlights flaring, reporters waiting for interviews, a crowd of the curious public pressing outside the canopy that led to the church, mounted policemen to keep them in order, an escort on motorcycles to clear a path. Connie would have worn white satin, fashioned by one of the leading Paris creators, a veil that would have stretched for yards and yards, a prayer book bound in white leather in her hands and a bouquet of rare white orchids. There would have been a dozen bridesmaids in rainbow colors; an organ murmuring "O Promise Me"; rice and old shoes, champagne, cake with white icing, tier upon tier.

Instead, this wedding took place in the front parlor of a small frame house in a little mountain town. The parlor smelled strongly of mothballs. The light from the chandelier made a glistening mirror on the round ball top in the justice's head. His wife, acting as witness, her hair done up in curl-papers, yawned openly more than once. This was no out of the ordinary occurrence to her; young people were so impatient; she and her good husband were often routed out of bed at all sorts of unearthly hours to "tie the knot," not realizing, the poor young things, how long it would be that way, once done.

The bride was gowned, as the society column might have phrased it, in a somewhat worn navy blue suit and a cheap, but saucy and becoming, little blue felt hat. Her voice shook a little when she said "I do!" and she clung tightly to the arm of the groom. The groom's voice boomed out, filling the whole parlor, when he gave his vows; there was a grim line of determination about his nice mouth.

"Whom God hath joined together, let no man put asunder . . ." the ancient and familiar words held a strange poetic beauty—and then Connie was in Bret's arms, his lips on hers—and they were man and wife.

"REMEMBER," Bret said sternly, tucking her into his car with his most masterful air, "your name now, young lady, is Mrs. Bretton Hardesty—for keeps. Don't you ever try to change it, or forget it for one minute!"

"Mrs. Bretton Hardesty," Connie said, lingering over the name. It sounded almost frightening, yet it was a beautiful name. One to be proud of, to live up to and treasure and respect. It was Bret's gift to her; a beautiful gift.

She looked at the plain gold band that Bret said had been his mother's and with which he had made Connie his wife. He had said he would get her a much finer one, but this she would keep always, nevertheless.

Tomorrow the headlines would blaze with the news that Constance Corby, the richest girl in the world, was married to an unknown and poor young engineer. Tomorrow she would become that rich girl again. She would send Uncle Tippy a wire; she would instruct him to see that the real Katie Blyn was well repaid and to allow her to return to her own world. Would she be glad, or sorry? Connie wondered—hoping that it would be the first of these. Tomorrow Rodney would know that Connie had run away from him forever; that he had indeed lost her now.

But this was tonight. Her wedding night. Tomorrow did not exist. This was the beginning of a girl, who was not the old Constance Corby, nor Katie Blyn, but still another girl who had given her heart and her life into the keeping of this man at her side . . . "Forever and ever . . ." Together . . . never just one person apart, again. Mrs. Bretton Hardesty. For keeps.

GRACE MOORE IN NEW FILM

Grace Moore will take romance in her latest film offering, "I'll Take Romance," one of the season's most entertaining musical pictures, with Stuart Erwin and Melvyn Douglas, at the West Coast beginning Thursday.

Jack Holt features the cast of the second offering of the program, "Under Suspicion," mystery western.

"I'll Take Romance" tells a fast, humorous, tongue-in-the-cheek story which sparkles with gay situations and brilliant dialog. In several memorable scenes, Miss Moore sings from some of the world's greatest operas. A kidnapping of sweetheart by sweetheart brings a clever, fast-action plot to the film.

Jack Holt, in his picture, presents a new character on the screen, a new character for him. Midas-rich and internationally famous as an auto magazine, he finds his life threatened by secret assassins who harass him from every side in many attempts to do away with him. How he outwits them brings some thrilling climaxes. Katherine DeMille, Luis Alberni, Rosalind Keith, Craig Reynolds and Esther Muir are in the cast. A two-reel Popeye specialty also screens.

O'Brien To Star Soon At Walker

"Submarine D-1," a melodrama dealing with the exploits of Uncle Sam's undersea boats and the gallant lads who man them, will offer film fans plenty of thrills beginning tomorrow at Walker's theater.

"The Perfect Specimen" featuring Errol Flynn, handsome Irish movie star, is offered by Warner brothers as second billing, a romantic comedy.

"Submarine D-1" is authentic as well as stirring for it was made with complete cooperation of the navy. Pat O'Brien, George Brent, Wayne Morris, Frank McHugh, Doris Weston, Regis Toomey and Henry O'Neill lead the cast. Joan Blondell is Flynn's leading lady in "The Perfect Specimen," while Edward Everett Horton, Hugh Horton, Dick Foran and Beverly Roberts add glittering comedy to the cast. The film is a tale of a perfect boy, raised so by his eccentric grandmother, who jumps the traces and completes a series of heroic feats before love separates him from his grandmother's apron strings.

Second feature offering of the cast, A two-reel Popeye specialty also screens.

"HURRICANE" STARTS TODAY

Samuel Goldwyn's long-awaited film version of "The Hurricane," the famous novel from the typewriters of Charles Nordhoff and James Norman Hall, who wrote "Mutiny on the Bounty," appears today.

Second feature offers Patric Knowles and Beverly Roberts in a film of split-second laughs and excitement all the way through, "Expensive Husbands," but the second feature will not be added to the program until tomorrow.

As second feature today, Walt Disney's most famous cartoons will be held over—"Academy Award Revue."

Dorothy Lamour and that amazing newcomer, Jon Hall, head the cast of "The Hurricane," high point of which is, of course, the great spectacle which gives the story its name. It has a tender romance, picturesque setting and powerful drama. In the cast are Mary Astor, C. Aubrey Smith, John Carradine and many other stellar lights. It is the story of a south seas romance, of imprisonment of a bridegroom, of his attempts to escape and his eventual freedom and heroic action during a hurricane.

"Expensive Husbands" is the story of a cash-and-carry husband, paid cash by his wife to carry the torch for her. She gets the best husband money can buy and she has to buy, buy or say bye-bye. "Lonesome Ghost," Mickey Mouse cartoon, and news also are offered.

Karloff In "Sympathy" Film Role

If you haven't seen Boris Karloff in "Night Key," you haven't seen him in his newest "sympathy" type of character. Believe it or not, you'll like him.

With "Night Key," "You're in the Army Now," featuring Wallace Ford, Anna Lee and Grace Bradley, double bill at the State beginning tomorrow. "Jungle Menace," chapter 5, also screens.

Karloff portrays an inventor of burglar alarm systems, and when his partner cheats him of his patents, thereby dobbing his daughter of security in life, he wrecks his enemy's burglar alarm system and defies police, gangsters—and everybody—to force his foe to give him his just rights. Skillfully directed, the picture carries suspense and action to a pleasing, thrilling climax.

"You're in the Army Now" gets under way when Wallace Ford, impersonating a New York habitué of the underworld, finds himself falsely charged with murder and makes his escape to London. Here he gets in the British army but, failing to be a model Tommy Atkins, he also gets into trouble. He makes love to blondes, becomes a war hero.

WALLACE BEERY, LEE TRACY HEAD WEST COAST PROGRAM

With Wallace Beery heading one feature and Lee Tracy, the second, the West Coast theater now is offering a double bill of entertainment-plus.

"The Bad Man of Brimstone," with Beery, is the scene's answer to the demands of the world's audiences for more material depicting the colorful days of early American history. Beery enacts the role of a gruff, tough, hard-shooting landit, ruling the town of Brimstone with an iron hand. How a thrilling climax is reached when Beery's own son attempts to clean up the town gives plenty of action and incidentally, a wealth of entertainment. Virginia Bruce, Dennis O'Keefe, Joseph Calleia, Lewis Stone, Guy Kibbee, Bruce Cabot, Cliff Edwards, Noah Beery (Wallace's brother), Charley Grapewin and Raymond Hatton are included in the stellar cast.

Sparkling with a wealth of hilarious situations played against a background of motion picture making, Lee Tracy's "Crashing Hollywood" tells of the romance between Tracy and a candidate for screen fame, the thrills which come when Tracy becomes involved in a gang of robbers and must fight his way through to clear himself. "Little Buckaroo" also screens.

SONJA HENIE WILL STAR AT BROADWAY

It's Sonja Henie again soon—at the Broadway—in her latest film success, "Happy Landings."

And with her in the picture which begins next Saturday, are Don Ameche, Jean Hersholt, Cesar Romero, Wally Vernon, Ethel Merman, Leah Ray and scores more of stage and screen renown. The central theme has a double romance motif, Ameche and Romero vying for Miss Henie's favor, while its locales vary from Norway to Palm Beach and back to New York. Music is offered masterfully while Miss Henie is given plenty of opportunity to display her remarkable skill as an ice skating artist.

Second and third features, respectively, are "City Girl," with Phyllis Brooks, Ricardo Cortez, Franklin Pangborn, Douglas Fowley and many others, and "March of Time," No. 8. "City Girl" is the story of a girl, poverty-stricken, who leaves her struggling lawyer-sweetheart for a gang leader with money, and pays the penalty after a series of thrilling scenes.

Jimmie Fidler In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 22.—Idol Chatter: A red-hot argument is the spice of life to Bette Davis. That dollar-sized gold charm that Dolores del Rio wears on her wrist bears the image of the Mother of Guadalupe—it was given to her when she was studying in a Mexico City convent. No love lost: Anita Louise and Olivia de Havilland. All a substitute high-school half back needs to become an all-American is a movie contract—and a press agent. Stellar nicknames: George Burns is "Ned" to his best friends, Clark Gable has acquired poise—but he never looks completely at ease in "soup-and-fish." As long as Don and Honore Ameche live in Hollywood, we will probably have one successful marriage to save our civic pride. Never see Lionel Stander without thinking of Union Square, a soap box and a red flag.

It is said but true that many of our biggest stars do not have a credit rating in keeping with their incomes. Anne Shirley always reminds me of mincepies and starched muslin. Hollywood hobby-horsemen: Fernand Cravet—who spends his spare hours dressing tin soldiers in the various military uniforms of the nations. It takes just one two-minute speech from Director Van Dyke to deflate the average actor's ego.

Norma Shearer remodelled her beach home recently and Irving Thalberg Jr., now occupies the suite of rooms that belonged to his father. To the suite has been added a large playroom with closets and cupboards to house his many toys. But there is one toy in the collection with which he is not allowed to play. It rests in a niche in the wall—a full-sized model of the H. M. S. Bounty. His father had it made for him during the production of "Mutiny on the Bounty." When it was delivered, some of the spars were out of line and some of the thread-like ropes were broken. Irving G. Thalberg repaired it himself and sat up most of the night to accomplish the task. It was his last gift to Irving Jr.

Thanks to Ann Southern, the old-fashioned rocking chair is becoming a fad in Filmville. Ann is the most tireless knitter since Madame De Farge—and she insists on rocking while she plays her needles. Following her example, most of the other actresses on the RKO lot are making Afghans, sweaters and such, and a set in that studio resembles nothing so much as an old-time sewing circle in Littletown. Helen Broderick found her rocker in a cluttered second-hand store and it is the envy of all the others—an upholstered creation that pre-dates the Civil War. Ann took one look at it, dashed home and spent the night in it. Next morning she dragged on the back of Miss Broderick's rocker a hand-embroidered sign—"Our Helen."

Stopped in the Paramount publicity department today—and heard Mae West reading the riot act to the publicity lads. "Diamond Lil" was sizzling. After she had undulated back to her dressing room, I asked the cause of the explosion . . . and I have been chuckling ever since. Mae, the screen's greatest exponent of the un-grammatical drawl, burns to crisp whenever a publicist quotes her as using the word "ain't."

Never see Fannie Brice without remembering one of the funniest bon mots of all time—and since Fannie, the victim, likes to tell I see no reason why I should not follow suit. Several years ago, in New York, she had her nose reshaped by a famous plastic surgeon. At her first party, after emerging from the bandages, all of the other guests were very careful to avoid mention of the operation. But not so a famous editor and wit, who arrived late. "Hello, Fannie," he shouted gaily, "what's this I hear about you cutting off your nose to spite your race?"

BERT WHEELER IN PERSON
 With Bert Wheeler appearing in person with his company on the stage at Walker's for the last times tonight, the hilarious vehicle, "High Flyers," on the screen, also is offered on the closing program. Bert Wheeler joins with Robert Woolsey in "High Flyers." Will and Gladys Aherm appear on the stage with Wheeler's company.

Max Terhune with his dummy, "Elmer," furnishes some of the choice comedy of "Gunsmoke Ranch," a "Three Mesquiteros" western comedy-drama, featuring also, Julia Thayer, Sammy McKim, Yakima Canutt and Kenneth Harlan, at the State theater beginning Friday.

The story deals with the moving of an entire community onto condemned land by a gang of unscrupulous promoters. On the same program, a variety bill of shorts is offered, including "Oh, What a Night," Herman Bing comedy; "Wild West Days," chapter 3, and world news.

Film Exhibited At Lions Session

GARDEN GROVE, Jan. 22.—Members of the Lions club enjoyed a motion picture on sport fished in the Blue Bird cafe this week. The picture was shown by P. W. Mortimer of the United film through the courtesy of the Union Oil company. Bob Goetz was program chairman.

Announcement was made that the losers in the recent membership and attendance contest would treat the winning team to dinner at the Melrose grotto in Hollywood and later attend the ice hockey games at the Crystal palace Saturday evening. Members will meet at the First National Bank at 6 p. m. Arrangements are being made by Dick Haster and Clair Head.

CLUB ENTERTAINED
 MIDWAY CITY, Jan. 22.—Mrs. George Luft was hostess to the Neighborhood club at her home this week. Mrs. Gail Braybrooks won first prize and Mrs. Burt Heath second, each receiving an appreciated gift. Candies were served during the games.

Those present as Mrs. Luft's guests were Mrs. Chester Campbell, Mrs. Byron Taves, Mrs. R. R. Suess, Mrs. James Dale, Mrs. R. O. Pritchard, Mrs. Russell I. Johnson, Mrs. Robert Lowry, Mrs. Gail Braybrooks and Mrs. Burt Heath.

MARCH, LOMBARD BATTLE WITH HILARIOUS RESULT AT WALKER

Carole Lombard, as usual, is the "fall guy" in another film, "Nothing Sacred," coming to Walker's theater beginning Thursday, a picture jammed with punches and laughs from start to finish.

Frederic March is co-starred. There is one scene, a terrific knock-down, drag-out battle in a hotel suite bedroom, in which Carole and Freddie swing punches, hit the floor, bounce into flower vases, clinch, wrestle and shove to a point of exhaustion.

Hilarious scenes—and don't forget they include some of Mickey

Orange County Athletic club maud-fests—of the screen play written by Ben Hecht, are of the type in which fast action and dialog are mingled.

Second feature brings "The Barrier," Rex Beach's story of the great north woods, with a cast headed by Leo Carrillo, Jean Parker, James Ellison, Robert Barrat and Andy Clyde. "The Barrier" tells the story of a love at first denied because of half-breed blood, supposedly in the veins of the girl and of the climax which finally allows her freedom to marry. Last March of Time also is offered.

DIETRICH SCORES AGAIN IN 'ANGEL'

One of the most beautiful and charming screen plays theater fans have seen in months is "Angel," with Marlene Dietrich, Herbert Marshall and Melvyn Douglas, appearing Wednesday and Thursday at the State.

Second feature will be "Invisible Man," a humorous mystery screen story, while "Star Gazers," travelogue also is featured.

Herbert Marshall, who plays Miss Dietrich's husband in "Angel," is a diplomat whose state interests gradually draw him away from his wife. On a secret trip to Paris Miss Dietrich meets the charming Douglas and they have a delightful evening together, not regretted except when Marshall and Douglas meet and become friends. The predicament furnishes much amusement and romance. Edward Everett Horton and Herbert Mundin also are in the excellent cast.

AUTRY IS STATE STAR
 With the singing cowboy, Gene Autry, heading the cast, "Round-Up Time in Texas" is presented on the State screen for the last times tonight in a variety program. A comedy: color cartoon, "Moths Hen's Holiday"; Chapter 2, "Wild West Days," and world news also are offered.

Parties Serve As Successful Fund Raisers

When Miss Yang Ling Fu painted "an international picture" yesterday at the Y. W. rooms in the presence of guests assembled for tea, she climaxed a successful party which began earlier in the afternoon with bridge events and programs designed to raise funds for relief of young people in China.

Painting pictures on "American materials, for Americans," Miss Fu created a work of art purchased by Mrs. E. D. White, with M. B. Wellington acting as auctioneer. An international picture of other dimensions was the vision of Y. W. national board members who conceived the benefit party plan being carried on throughout the nation.

Through yesterday's affair in this city, more than $120 was raised, it was announced today by Miss Mary W. Howard, Y. W. secretary.

Response to yesterday's party plans was even greater than had been anticipated, according to Mrs. Edith Thatcher, world fellowship chairman, who was in general charge of arrangements. She was at the Y. W. to aid in receiving tea guests, as was Mrs. W. D. Guthrie, association president; Mrs. H. J. Howard, membership chairman, Mrs. Clyde Downing and other members of the Y. W. C. A.

Book Reviews

One of the most popular programs on yesterday's calendar was that given by Mrs. John Tessmann in the home of Mrs. C. F. Smith, 1316 Heliotrope Drive, where Miss Mabel McFadden aided in receiving the 65 guests.

Mrs. Tessmann chose for review, such widely varied books as "The Life of Madame Curie" by her daughter, Eve Curie; "Remember the Day" by Kenneth Horan; "Roller Skates" by Ruth Sawyer; "The Nutmeg Tree" by Marjorie Sharpe; "Katrina" by Sally Salminen; "Home Grown" by Della Lukes, all given in her understanding manner and with her powers for keen analysis.

Chinese Motif

Appropriately, China was the underlying theme for the other two programs, the one in the home of Mrs. Hugh Gerrard of Victoria Drive, and the other in the Gustine studios on North Sycamore street.

Miss Yang Ling Fu, poetess, painter and lecturer was speaker at the studios, giving a fascinating talk on her work as a painter. She displayed a number of pictures, reading and singing in Chinese the poems which she had written to accompany each painting.

Aiding Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gustlin in receiving were Mrs. Walter Spicer and Mrs. Fred Ferry.

Mrs. J. B. Wolfe, who has spent so many years in China, gave a fascinating talk in the Gerrard home, where many guests shared the hospitality of Mrs. Gerrard.

Mrs. P. F. Schrock and Miss Lua Finley, "Present Day Conditions in China" was the program theme.

Bridge Parties

Others who took part in the party series enjoyed playing bridge. Those entertaining were Mesdames M. K. Tedstrom, E. D. White, A. J. Cruikshank, Edward Hall, Fred Forgy, B. H. Sharpless, W. D. Ranney, William Ott, Alan Revell and M. B. Wellington.

Mrs. Wellington, first vice-president of the Y. W., was in charge of arrangements for the bridge events.

Mrs. E. B. Sprague carried out plans for the tea interval, enjoyed as guests dropped in at the Y. W. rooms between four and five o'clock. Spread with an Italian outwork cloth, the tea table was centered with white snapdragons and sweet peas in white pottery bowls matching the candlesticks, from which rose white tapers.

Pouring were Mrs. John Henderson and Mrs. Herbert Rankin, for the first interval; Mrs. H. B. Bell and Mrs. W. H. Harrison for the remainder of the time.

Mrs. E. D. Froese, in charge of serving, was assisted by Mesdames K. H. Sutherland, John McCoy, W. B. Hellis and the Misses Rowena Newcomb and Katherine Budd.

Among those especially interesting in meeting Miss Fu were Mrs. Edith Thatcher and Miss Mabel Whiting, who enjoyed conversing in Chinese with the distinguished visitor.

Wait A Minute

And when you think of it sometime, ask any one of three prominent members of Orange Women's club, how it seems to be party hostesses without being aware of it. The three are Myrtle (Mrs. M. L.) Reed, Clara (Mrs. Frank Colfax) Richmond and Fay (Mrs. R. W.) Miller, named by one of the economics sections to serve as hostesses at a bridge tea, and then notified of the honor. It is even whispered that Fay Miller was the only one present, and her amazement may be pictured when she was asked what the preparations were for refreshments. N. B. There weren't any. P. S. There were no prizes either. Evelyn and Joe (Joe's Grocery) Hersher aren't the only travelers, even if they are sailing soon for Havana, with Mardi Gras plans in the offing. Vera and Jack (Weights and Measures Inspector) Backus have just returned from Mexico City and found it loads more fun to motor down by their lonesomes and go wherever fancy dictated, than to join a travel tour. Catching a glimpse of Myrtle and W. W. (Rancher) Wassor dining together tonight at one of our favorite eateries, proved to us that we hadn't remembered those three W's recently when we tried to think of Santa Any men with triple initials.

Since Jr. Ebells First Book Reviewers hit upon the scheme of exacting a five cent fine from each late comer, there have been few tardy marks, according to Margaret (Mrs. James) Workman. Charlotte (Dancer) and George (Ditto) Bredwin are certain that it is a daughter they will soon welcome, and five year-old Son Bruce is quite excited over the event. Remember Charlotte? She used to answer to the name of Caldwell, and she and George and small Bruce have very recently established their home in Tustin. We hope the rain came in time to save the roses out at the Garden Grove home of Mildred and William (Civil Engineer) Brady, especially since Mildred is so generous in sharing the lovely blooms. Harland (Teacher) Shennum of Glendale, whose life was saddened late last year by the passing of his young wife, lovely Vivian Rogers whom Santa Anans loved, comes to this community often to be with his infant son Paul, who is with relatives here.

Margaret (U. C. L. A.) Sawyer's light smile so intrigued the tiny-tinkler for a Los Angeles paper that her pitcher appeared three times in the Sunday edition on account she is "an average co-ed who washes dishes, cooks and does the budgeting for her family." Ma and Pa Julia and Frank (Motor Company) Sawyer please take note. John (Register Adv.) Passwater may be tall and good-looking—but he still talks like Charlie McCarthy. Look alike—Helen (Mrs. Neil) Adams and Janet Gaynor. Farla Nell (Kenneth Hunt's Gal) Clayton and Katherine Hepburn. We hope Gladys and Burr (Music Store) Shafer remembered to send birthday greetings to Anita (Moom Pitchers) Louise, who is their frequent guest. Granted that Betty (Jaycee Grad) Stafford has now completed the nurses' training making it possible for her to do those fetching caps and crisp uniforms, we'd like to know the meaning of that sparkle from the ring finger of her left hand.

Fifty years ago Monday night as ever was, Fannie and James A. (Rancher) Smiley wedding marched on a gay start towards their golden anniversary which will be celebrated with a Monday open house. Hope that January 24, 1988 will see a similar celebration for Twila Hunt and Clyde Henry who are wedding marching Monday night. Believe it or not, Nancy (Mrs. Emrys) White confesses to a bit of the jitters when she made her first radio broadcast, Chewday afternoon from Santa Barbary, as state advisor of junior clubwomen—and Nancy with more poise than anyone we know. Floyd (Printer) Berkland is all smiles now that Frau Jessie May is home from the hospital, almost good as new after her serious operation. Jessie May was the marvel of medics and nurses, the way in which she came through with such flying colors. Congrats to Glendora P. E. O. members who are to hear the lovely voice of Ellen (Mrs. F. W.) Slabaugh on the first day of February, when she has promised to sing at their important meeting. We wouldn't want to be personal or anything, but we certainly do like the looks of Ray (Furniture Store) Chandler's mustache. When De Molays up and elect master councilors, it means that the latter's maws step into the presidency of De Molay Mothers circle, and so Pearl (Mrs. Glen) Lacy has the unique honor of serving a second term, first for Son Maurice and now for Son Herbert. Elsie Lee (Orange Aides) Huffine has a refreshing charm distinctly her own, and looked like a picture to her day in a frilly little yellow blouse with her light green suit. That gal is a wonder too, handicapped by deafness and absolutely the gayest, cheeriest and most ambitious person we know. She has finished high school now and is thinking of going on with a commercial art course. If she starts it, we know she will go places and do things. She is brave, determined and gallant. Flash! New telephone directories will soon be off the press. Congrats to Mister Bell and all the pretty telephone belles.

House-Guests Complimented By Mrs. Rapp

Yesterday's enjoyable bridge tea at Santa Ana Country club, gave opportunity to Mrs. Howard Rapp for arranging that a group of her friends should meet two interesting eastern relatives of the Rapps, as well as an equally charming newcomer to Santa Ana, a close personal friend of Mr. and Mrs. Rapp, from Indiana.

Mr. Rapp's brother and sister-in-law, the Lynns Rapps of Elwood, Ind., who are spending a month in Hollywood, are here for the weekend in the Rapp home, 1316 Greenleaf street. They were joined there for dinner last night, by Mrs. Rapp's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Kuhmsted of Oshkosh, Wis., winter guests at the Los Angeles Biltmore.

It was to compliment Mrs. Lynn Rapp and Mrs. Kuhmsted, that Mrs. Rapp yesterday assembled a dozen of her friends for luncheon at the Country club in advance of the afternoon's bridge play. The third guest so pleasantly complimented was Mrs. Herbert Boulden, recently arrived from Frankfort, Ind. with her husband, Dr. Boulden, with plans to make Santa Ana their home. They are now at the DeSoto apartments on North Sycamore street.

Quite in harmony with the vivid decorative appointments of the clubhouse, was the luncheon table with its shallow bowl from which soared ranunculus blossoms in their wide color range, matched by the French baskets at the ends of the table. Mrs. Rapp's party joined the general bridge play of the afternoon, but she had planned for a prize in her own group, and this was won by Mrs. Harde-man T. Dunning's high score.

Gala Luncheon Brings Birthday Series To a Close

Coming as a pleasant conclusion to the series of parties feting Mrs. Mary Flanagan in celebration of her 90th birthday was a luncheon and bridge event Thursday afternoon in the home of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. E. L. Flanagan, 1019 Cypress avenue.

Hostess at the pleasant affair was Mrs. E. L. Flanagan's mother, Mrs. Charles Koegler of New York City, who is spending the winter here. Three-course luncheon was served at a table lighted with tall tapers to match the centerpiece of deepest pink. The blossoms were arranged in a silver bowl. In keeping with the pink and white motif were hand-painted place cards of sweet pea design.

Mrs. Koegler presented her honoree with a Colonial bouquet of shaded iris and sweet peas. There were many other gifts for the birthday celebrant.

Miss Ann Flanagan scored high in bridge play. Others present were her mother, Mrs. Mary Flanagan, the honoree; Mrs. E. L. Flanagan, Mrs. Charles Koegler, with Mesdames F. J. Flanagan, U. J. Engelman, Edwin Kolbe, P. B. Gillespie and Miss Dora Kolbe.

Mothers Study Club Elects Officers

Electing officers and enjoying a program on "Etiquette for Juniors," members of Mothers Study club met Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Fred Ray, 1341 South Van Ness avenue. Mrs. Nylia Hurd was named president.

Others chosen were Mrs. Rex McGill, vice-president; Mrs. James Davis, secretary; Mrs. Cecil Sauers, treasurer; Mrs. John W. Frealey and Mrs. C. R. McGowan, program chairmen; Mrs. William B. Humphrey publicity chairman and historian.

Mrs. Kenneth Loughton was leader of the program, which was followed by the serving of refreshments by the hostesses.

Present were Mesdames John Adams, John W. Frealey, James Drais, Herbert Hayson, Ernest Hill, William B. Humphrey, Nylia Hurd, Virgil O. Kinsner, Kenneth Loughton, Guy Matics, Rex McGill, C. R. McGowan, Herbert Parsons, Fred Ray, Cecil Sauers, J. E. Sims, Loren D. Spencer, J. L. Wilson and Forrest White.

The next meeting will be held February 3 in the home of Mrs. Parsons, 1012 North Flower street.

Harlow Home Is Scene Of Post-Program Event

Mrs. Harry Harlow, who is in charge of the senior high department of First Baptist church, and Mrs. A. M. Robinson, supervisor of the junior high department, headed a group of teachers and other church workers who attended Dr. Bessie McClellan's lecture last night in this city.

Following the talk by the U. S. C. professor, the party repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harlow, 1920 North Ross street where refreshments were served. Pointillists and tapers were used in decorating. Mrs. William Hemmen assisted Mrs. Harlow.

Present with Mr. and Mrs. Harlow and Mrs. Robinson were the Rev. Harry Evan Owens, Richard Robbins, F. W. Sanford, Miss Elizabeth Robinson, Miss Lula Hodge and Mesdames Earl Morris, P. G. Kilburn, John Vernon, William Hemmen, Bert Mathews, Trevor Carnes.

Representing County - Wide Interests

Mrs. James Davis was Miss Velda Walker, daughter of pioneer residents of the Midway City community, the Frank Walkers. She and Mr. Davis recently returned from an extensive honeymoon trip following their marriage in Yuma, and are living at Gertrude's Court on Harbor boulevard at Seventeenth street. Miss Josephine Butler is one of the most prominent girls on the Santa Ana Junior college campus and has just been elected to the presidency of Associated Women Students. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Butler, 2143 Riverside Drive. Miss Twila Hunt is the daughter of Mrs. E. M. Hunt of Garden Grove, and on Monday night will be the bride of Clyde Henry, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. Henry of that city, at First Baptist church rites. Mrs. Louis A. Towers the former Miss Helen Mulholland of South Pasadena, Santa Ana supervisor for State Relief administration, surprised all but immediate members of the two families, by announcement on January 15, of a wedding date exactly a year earlier. Mr. Towers is a pre-medical student at Santa Ana Junior college. He and his bride are now located at 204 East Tenth street.

Girls' Ebells Members Are Informed Of Shoes Styles

Speaking on the subject, "Styles in Shoes and Accessories," Mrs. Alice Peterson entertained members of Girls' Ebells society yesterday afternoon in Miss Marjorie Mize's home, 602 South Ross street.

As they arrived for the meeting, members were served tea from a table charmingly decorated in orchid hues. Cyclamen and lighted tapers in crystal candlesticks combined to carry out the color motif. Presiding over the tea table were Lucille Lambert and Carolyn Wells. Mrs. Robert C. Mize and Mrs. Carrie B. Wells assisted.

In the absence of Miss Barbara Speed, president of the society, Miss Harriet Spicer presided over the afternoon's business meeting. Present as advisors were Mesdames M. B. Wellington and C. V. Davis, and special guests were Mesdames Fred C. Rowland and E. D. White.

Family Group Observes Birthday Tonight

Gathered around the dinner table tonight in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Dresser, 1523 French street, will be an intimate family group assembled to celebrate the birthday anniversary of the host. Violets and hyacinths will provide a table centerpiece. With the dessert course of the dinner menu will be served decorated birthday cake.

With Mr. and Mrs. Dresser will be their son Laurence, of the home; sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Dresser of Los Angeles and the Harold Dressers and son, Nanfred of Linwood; and the hosts' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kolhorst of Orange. Mrs. Kolhorst, the former Miss Dorothy Dresser, will assist her mother in serving.

ARBOR VITAE CLUB

Iceland popples and narcissus formed centerpieces at tables where dessert was served Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. E. J. Grothier, 804 Spurgeon street, with Arbor Vitae club members as guests.

Mrs. Mary Hertel was rewarded for her high score in bridge, galloping awards went to Mrs. Mary Hawthorne and Mrs. C. R. Walter. Mrs. Howard McVain was a guest, sharing the afternoon with Mesdames H. D. McVain, John Smith, C. R. Walter, William Almas, Leland Coon, Mary Hertel, Elmie Swan, Flora McIntosh, Albert Lane, G. N. Coon and Mary Hawthorne.

Pretty Afternoon Tea Is Birthday Honor To Mrs. Kelly

Today, bringing its annual anniversary of her birth on January 22, 1958, in Edinburgh, Scotland, also brought additional pleasures to Mrs. Margaret Kelly, 440 South Sycamore street. For she was honor guest at a tea of colorful appointments, being given this afternoon in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Earl S. Young on Newport road.

In planning the birthday compliments to her mother, Mrs. Young called together members of the family circle and a few of the closer friends gained by the half century or more during which Mrs. Kelly has made her home in this vicinity. Mrs. Herbert Smith, niece of the hostess and granddaughter of the honor guest, aided in receiving, and at the tea hour, presided at the prettily arranged table.

This table had as its chief decorative note, the beautiful lace cloth, handwork of Mrs. Kelly, and just completed for her daughter in time to be used first on such an important occasion. Flowers in bright soft colors were used in conjunction with the pretty appointments and the handsome lace cloth.

Mrs. E. O. Ahern, another daughter of Mrs. Kelly, will continue the birthday festivities tomorrow when she will entertain at a family dinner party in compliment to her mother, Mrs. May Barker will arrive from her Los Angeles home to join the family circle. One daughter, Mrs. J. O'Connor of Washington, was not able to come south for the anniversary, but was represented by a box of birthday gifts which arrived this morning. The family circle includes another daughter, Mrs. Clyde Files, and two sons, D. N. Kelly and W. J. Kelly of this city.

Born in Edinburgh, Mrs. Kelly came to the United States in her young womanhood, with her husband, the late Captain William Kelly. They eventually decided upon Southern California as their home, and lived in Santa Ana and vicinity during the intervening years. The death of Captain Kelly some seven years ago, removed from the community one of its best known and most interesting men.

Native Daughters

Thimble club members of Native Daughters of the Golden West finished a quilt and worked on other articles during an all day meeting Thursday in the home of Mrs. A. P. Dresser, 1523 French street. Covered-dish luncheon was served at noon.

The next session will be held February 3, with the place of meeting to be announced later.

Army Reserve Officer Addresses Legion Auxiliary

National Defense and Legislation which are included on the national Legion and auxiliary program, provided the theme for an address by Ray Smith of Anaheim Thursday evening at a meeting of Santa Ana auxiliary in Veterans hall.

Mr. Smith, who is an Army Reserve officer, and Mrs. Smith, who holds a department office in the auxiliary, were accorded places of honor at tables where dinner was served in advance of the program. Other guests were Mrs. Pauline Cleary, member of Tustin unit, who is 21st district auxiliary president; and Mrs. Catherine Allen of Huntington Beach, 21st district American chairman.

Mrs. Roy Gowdy and Mrs. Ben Lieberman were in charge of dinner, which was served to 100 members and guests. Mrs. Charles Leimer conducted a business meeting. Mrs. Gowdy, hospital chairman, announced that the local unit will be sponsor of a card party to be held sometime in May at San Fernando hospital.

Plans were made to cooperate with Orange County Council, Legion auxiliary in giving an afternoon party February 11 at Sawtelle hospital.

It was announced that the auxiliary drill team will conduct initiation rites for Riverside auxiliary February 17, and for the local auxiliary, March 3, when annual membership dinner will be held.

Honor Guest at Party Given Layette Gifts

Mrs. C. Wayne Crumrine was showered with layette gifts Tuesday evening when she was feted at a shower in the home of Mrs. Norman Morgan, 518 South Parton street.

Sweet peas brightened the rooms where tables were set up for a games program. Prizes in bunko went to Mrs. Marvin K. Brown, Mrs. Victor Fleming and Mrs. Leo Hotchkiss, who held the three highest scores. Packages for Mrs. Crumrine were piled high on the dining room table. Refreshments were served as a climaxing feature, with Mrs. Hotchkiss assisting the hostess. Guests were the honoree, Mrs. Crumrine and her mother, Mrs. W. A. Butterfield; with Mrs. Cheryl Johnson of Laguna Beach and Mesdames Marvin Brown, Leo Hotchkiss, Stanley Allen, C. O. Knox, Joseph Stroup, Victor Fleming, Elbert Bauman, Ernest Crumrine, all of this community; Mrs. Thomas Chapman of San Francisco, who is visiting in Laguna Beach and Mrs. Cecil Johnson of Redondo Beach.

Mardi Gras Is Included With Voyage Plans

Since it has been said that plans for the famous New Orleans Mardi Gras are more elaborate this year than for many years in the past, it is especially interesting to know that Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hersher, 1815 North Flower street, expect to arrange their approaching travels so that they will be in New Orleans for the carnival season.

On Sunday night, January 30, the Hershers are sailing from Los Angeles harbor aboard the S. S. Pennsylvania, for the Panama Canal trip. Their first port of call will of course be the Mexican city of Acapulco, and they anticipate the two important Canal stops at both the Pacific and the Atlantic sides. They are making no set program to follow after they reach Havana, Cuba, for they wish to be free to linger or go as fancy dictates.

However they are anticipating their stay in the Cuban city, for they will be entertained there by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Couvillon of Havana, where Mr. Couvillon is superintendent of one of the sugar plantations. On their frequent former home the Couvillons visit here in the United States, have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hersher, and are eager to extend their hospitality in turn.

When the Santa Anans depart from Havana it will be by air for they will fly to Miami, Fla., where they are to be joined by friends from Atlanta, Ga., for a visit before accompanying these friends to their Atlanta home. The trip homeward from Georgia will be by train, so arranged as to reach the Louisiana city for the carnival week preceding the Lenten season.

Short Talks Provide After-Dinner Program

Dinner and a program in the home of Miss Alice Martin, 1246 South Ross street, made Thursday evening an especially enjoyable time for members of one of the city's Toastmasters clubs.

There were short talks by three members. Miss Rowena Newcomb discussed "Have You a Musical Mind?"; Miss Dorothy Grist talked on "The Western Union"; and Miss Elsie Sielsen on "My Grandfather's House."

Completing the group present were the Misses Bonnie Kiser, Beulah Minder, Florence Mesamer, Kathryn Chapman, Arminia Wilcox, Eugenia Gilbert, Rachel Jones and Florence Wasson.

Miss Chapman will receive the group for covered-dish dinner in her home Thursday evening, February 3.

Senior Class Nurses Feted by Juniors

Another delightful affair was added to social calendar of events for Orange county hospital student nurses Thursday evening when junior class members entertained seniors at Lucias in Los Angeles.

Dinner was served in an inviting setting. The orchestra played "Memories" as a special number dedicated to the senior class.

Present were Mrs. Julia Salisbury and Miss May Venable, senior and junior class councilors; the Misses Beatrice Prader, Viola Voth, Mary Alice White, Avonell Paige, Elizabeth Hassell and Beatrice Longshore, seniors; the Misses Beryl Talent, Evelyn Neher, Ida May Hartman, Leola Watkins, Phoebe Clark and Marian Whitney, juniors.

The hostess held high score in card play of the afternoon. Her guests were Mesdames Guy Dowds, Lynn Ostrander, Guy Darnell, B. J. McReynolds, L. R. Wilson, Sidney Russell and Nan Dale.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

B. J. McReynolds' birthday anniversary occasioned a pleasant little dinner party last night when he and Mrs. McReynolds received an intimate group of guests in their home on East Fruit street.

Red and white carnations and candytuft formed a centerpiece at the dinner table, which was lighted with tapers. Bridge play of the evening yielded a prize for Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Wilson, whose combined scores were high.

In the group with the hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Plumb and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Dowds.

IN WILSON HOME

Bridge club members were assembled for a monthly affair this week when Mrs. H. G. Wilson was hostess at an afternoon party in her home, 1700 East First street. Baby blue iris centered the table at which dessert was served at an early hour.

WEDDING CARDS OUT

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Griset, Newport Boulevard to the wedding on Saturday February 5, of their daughter, Miss Dorothy May Griset, to Elmer Ames Curry, son of the Byron V. Currys, 2303 Santiago avenue. The ceremony will be an evening event, with formal church rites in Tustin Presbyterian church.

"Showery" Day Is Experience Of Twila Hunt

Yesterday proved to be a very exciting day for Miss Twila Hunt, who on Monday night will be the bride of Clyde Henry of Garden Grove, for she found that her imminent wedding had inspired two delightful gifts. The first of these was a ten given by a hostess group in the Howard Wasson home, 1876 Fruit street and the second was presented last night by Miss Faria Nell Clayton, entertaining in the home of her aunt, Mrs. Fannie R. Nau, 208 South Birch street.

Miss Clayton will be maid of honor for Miss Hunt's church wedding Monday night and has been a guest at the series of affairs which will culminate with tonight's rehearsal party. In planning the evening in her aunt's home, she applied a pastel color scheme developed with hyacinths in their varied lovely colors and mignonette's soft blue.

While the game of progressive hearts was in progress, the conclusion of each round brought a surprise gift to Miss Hunt until she had collected innumerable dainty articles to be added to her trousseau. Conclusion of play brought attractive gift awards to Miss Gladys Cockerham with high score; Miss Hunt as winner of traveling prize and Miss Nettie Edwards as consolation.

Bubble bowls with the rainbow-hued blossoms centered each of the card tables when they were spread with dainty linens for the refreshment hour. Miss Clayton was assisted by her aunts, Mrs. Nau and Mrs. Hazel Bemis, in the evening's various pleasant details.

Her guests included with her honored, Miss Hunt, Mrs. Nau and Miss Bemis, Miss Dorothy Coe of this city; the Misses Frances Hammon, Dorothy Knapp, Lillian Crane, Marjorie Brown, Ruth Lehnhardt and Myra Lake, Garden Grove; Miss Marjorie McDonald, Laguna Beach; Mrs. Leo Dunham, Fullerton, and Mrs. Gordon Mallett, Long Beach.

Afternoon Affair

Mrs. Howard Wasson was joined by Mrs. W. W. Tantlinger, Mrs. Rena Wheeler of Anaheim, Mrs. James A. Randel and Mrs. Henry Helmer in entertaining at the afternoon affair for Miss Hunt.

Bright flowers of the season were used in profusion as setting for the hospitality which was showered by more than half a hundred friends of the prospective bride. Her home community of Garden Grove was well represented as were Santa Ana, Fullerton, Anaheim, and the beach districts.

Two merry contests, one based on flowers and the other on the menus that the honor guest will so be planning, yielded attractive prizes to Mrs. Ann Sullivan and Mrs. Ethel Watson of Fullerton.

Shower gifts for Miss Hunt ranged from kitchen utensils through linens in every variety, to glass, pottery and china. After the lovely gifts had been passed for general inspection, the hostesses arranged card tables with pretty linens for serving fruit jello topped with whipped cream, coffee and cake.

Bridge club members were assembled for a monthly affair this week when Mrs. H. G. Wilson was hostess at an afternoon party in her home, 1700 East First street. Baby blue iris centered the table at which dessert was served at an early hour.

The hostess held high score in card play of the afternoon. Her guests were Mesdames Guy Dowds, Lynn Ostrander, Guy Darnell, B. J. McReynolds, L. R. Wilson, Sidney Russell and Nan Dale.

SELF-HELP

Life is worth while as long as one is happy in it, and no longer. Happiness is a personal matter quite beyond the reach of parental control, school control or government order. One is happy according to his own feeling and that feeling rises out of mental satisfaction with one's lot.

It is a law of nature that to be happy one must be useful, busy about something that helps the people concerned about the business. One makes dishes or washes them, as well as using them, or one does not make himself useful and so cannot make himself happy. It is well to remember this when we are trying so mightily to help young people off to a good start.

Helping them to put themselves in the right attitude to take what opportunity offers, training them so that they can have the ability to see the opportunity and make the most of it, is our only contribution. We cannot give them a single atom of power, a single gleam of intelligence. Giving them money won't help because it won't stick, being without those self-grown roots that make it a symbol of personal power. Lacking that, it is washed away as fast as it is given. Giving them jobs that they have not selected for themselves and for which they have not fitted themselves won't help either. The applied job is like the applied money. It has no self-grown roots and cannot stand up in bad weather.

The nub of the matter is that self-help is the only help that counts for anything. Self-activity, which means activity of mind and body under one's own direction, is what brings intelligence into life; and it is only then, when the intelligence moves the person to act worthily, that the worker feels content, satisfied and happy. Man is constituted so that taking makes him miserable unless he has the power to give in return. Youth has the right to training and education and opportunity. It is our duty to provide these. We cannot give them anything nor could they take anything worth while if they would.

I am not anxious to see the Youth of the world hard at work in factories, shops, offices, giving their strength to industrial labor or labor of other sorts. I still think that there are plenty of matured men and women to carry on the work of the world. Let the young-ones of the teens and early twenties complete their growth and training before starting out in competition with older workers. We are going to have a dearth of skilled workers, if it is not upon us now. The coming generation ought to be trained to do thorough, craftsman-like, workmanlike jobs before they take over.

We have been making a mistake along this line. Boys and girls decided they would go to work. Somebody got them a job, any job, or they found one for themselves and went to work. Young men, who had never seen the inside of a car, took jobs in garages; jobs as gardeners' assistants when they didn't know a dandelion from a forget-me-not. A man, who had never polished a spoon or brushed a floor, took a job as a houseman, and his wife, who had never made an apple pie, secured a place as a cook. This is all wrong. Any work that one does ought to be considered sacred because it is a direct expression of one's own self. Its effect should be happiness for the worker, satisfaction for the employer. Youth needs training toward self-help. They do not ask us for jobs or for money, but they do ask for education, training, fitness, to take over their own job, and to that they are entitled. They want to help themselves.

Modern Poets

BY BEULAH MAY
Through an error which I deeply regret, the last verse of the following poem was omitted last week.

From the sun;
Swiftly they go yet seem not to hurry,
And fade with the darkness,
Ever as one!

COYOTE
Ralph J. Donahue
per the plain dim shadows are moving—
Shadows of gray mist that flee will die!

Spirits of Death in forms of the Living.

Warnings of wrongs that are as old as the sky;
Fighting to live, yet asking no quarter,
And dying at last as all traitors

Born of the night-wind, with range;
Old as the mesa, the hilltop, the fragments of prairie; drift of the wildways—

Drift of the wildways that never can change!
—Kaleidograph.

OLD HOUND
With paws in firelight dipped, and drowsy ears
He disregards the calling of the night.

The small fox runs, the hare his shadow fears,
Below the moon the wild geese wing their flight.

But under shelter now he seems content
With serene breath to lie in his lone ease.

Back from the lonely forest's His trail has ended at his master's knees.

He nods his proud head through a night of frost,
His twitching feet alone reveal his dream:

The whirling autumn cloud, the clear track lost,
The antlers gleaming in the autumn stream.

No inch of him betrays the morning skies
That hour—except his melancholy eyes.

Church Societies

Class Election
New officers elected at Thursday night's meeting of Delta Alpha class of First M. E. Sunday school, were the Misses Irma DeBar, president; Olive Briney, vice president; Bertha Briney, secretary; Laura Sherman, assistant secretary, and Minnie Wild, treasurer.

Miss Anna Canfield presided at the business session and devotion were led by Miss Kella Hay. One of the outstanding features of the evening was Miss Anna Steward's account of her recent visit in Oregon with her brother, V. L. Steward and family. Mr. Steward is a former teacher of the class, whose members were happy to hear from him.

Refreshments were served by a hostess committee composed of the Misses Clara Barnes, Minnie Wild, Charlotte Carhart and Edna Knoll, to their sister class members, the Misses Olive Briney, Bertha Briney, Daisy Williams, Katie Cornett, Beulah Cornett, Kella Hay, Irma DeBar, Elizabeth Sherman, Laura Sherman, Melissa Burt, Anna Canfield, Mrs. Mary L. Bowen, and a special guest, Mrs. Sarah Speak, and the church director of religious education, Miss Mary L. Ryan.

First Presbyterian
Mrs. Henry Diers and Mrs. Geneva Obermiller were welcomed as new members of First Presbyterian Ladies Aid Northwest section Wednesday afternoon at a meeting in the home of Miss Jennie Swann, 1715 Spurgeon street.

Mrs. Roy Arms took charge of devotionals which preceded business matters in charge of Mrs. Frank Leonard. Miss Margaret Esau gave an entertaining reading during the social interval.

Home-made cakes, nuts and tea were served by the hostess committee, Mesdames M. L. Willis, Lee Ward, John Swanner and Miss Esau.

Quarters
Quarters of First Methodist church held a little sister meeting early this week in the home of the Misses Marjorie and Jean Ann Randall, 403 East Twelfth street. Covered-dish dinner was served.

Miss Olive Schweitzer led devotionals. Following reports by Miss Betty Pleis and Miss Vivian Vale, secretary and treasurer, greetings were extended to the new girls by Miss Joe Townsley, president.

Mrs. Mae Chisholm Brown, missionary home from China, told of her experiences in the Orient.

Present were the Misses Roberta Corcoran, Barbara Tillotson, Pauline Williams, Maxine Williams, Joy Townsley, Ruth Townsend, Maxine Burnett, Ruth Marian Childs, Jean Griffith, Donna June Cocking, Olive Schweitzer, Genevieve Erickson, Dorothy Wintbourne, Janice Wintbourne, Geraldine Tway, Betty Pleis, Vivian Vale, Marguerite Fox, Eileen Davis, Dorothy Garner, Stella Kavalas, Mildred Guss, Kearney Luers, May Olive Tozier, Betty Stocker, Betty Jo Froeschle, Marjorie Randall and Jean Ann Randall, with Miss Helen Wissman and Mrs. R. L. Matthews, advisors, and Mrs. George Townsend, assistant advisor.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE
Friends from this city joined in plans for a merry party for Mrs. Glenn W. Short of South Harbor boulevard, in observance of her recent birthday anniversary. Taking refreshments and all things necessary to a birthday surprise, the guests arrived at the Short home in readiness for an evening of bridge.

Mr. Short was in the conspiracy and enjoyed the pleasant evening with his wife, her father, S. E. Vaughn, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hutton of Anaheim, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence B. Kientz and Mrs. Louise Aubrey, Santa Ana.

VINTON WIGLASH CALLED BY DEATH

FULLERTON, Jan. 22.—Vinton Wiglash, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Wiglash, of 329 West Amherst, died at the Fullerton Cottage hospital Friday.

The youth, who was graduated from the Fullerton Union High school and District Junior college, had resided here for 15 years. He was employed in Los Angeles.

Besides his parents, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Minerva McDuell, of Anaheim, and grandmother, Mrs. E. N. Vinton of Hillsboro, Oregon.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of McAulay and Suters.

SILVER ACRES

SILVER ACRES, Jan. 22.—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sherman and son, Dale, and Mrs. Mary Cadwallader, and Miss Sadie Cadwallader, all of Pasadena, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willis W. Cadwallader.

Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Layton, Francis Birdella, Helen Layton and Kenneth Layton, of Santa Ana, were recent dinner guests at Mr. and Mrs. James C. Butler.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Baird have returned from a honeymoon trip to North Carolina, where they visited relatives of Mr. Baird. Mrs. Baird was the former Frances Belty, who has been spending the winter with her cousin, Mrs. Roy Duncan. The newlyweds will make their home in Santa Monica.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. McPherson and their son and granddaughter, H. L. McPherson and Patricia McPherson, all of Riverside, were recent dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Siphord of West Fifth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Patterson and son, Mervin were recent visitors of Mrs. Patterson's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Davis, in Taft.

New York Stock Market

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Stocks lower in dull trading. Curb stocks easy and quiet. Foreign exchange steady to firm. French franc improved. Cotton down as much as 50 cents a bale. Major groups moved narrowly. Wheat firm; corn easy. Rubber steady around previous closing levels.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(UP)—Stocks, bonds and commodities eased today in light trading.

The share market opened lower, firming slightly and then fluctuated aimlessly. Traders remained cautious and operations were only routine.

The T. V. A. decision had been anticipated and discounted, experts said. Interest switched to fate of the case in the supreme court.

Utility shares joined the downturn, although no pressure was noted. Other major groups moved narrowly with a few exceptions. These included Owens Glass, which reduced its dividend payment yesterday. It sold at 54 off 3 1/2. Westinghouse Electric was down 2 1/2 points at its low.

SUCH SACRILEGE!

For once the American people will agree with the justice of the most recent instance of Soviet disciplinary action—the ousting of Boris Shumiatsky, head of the Russian motion picture industry, for trying to inject sex appeal into "Treasure Island."

Putting love interest into Robert Louis Stevenson's immortal adventure story would appear to be the acme of absurdity. Even Hollywood never thought of transforming Cabin Boy Jim Hawkins into a girl named Jenny.

Shumiatsky apparently was trying to out-Hollywood Hollywood. He deserved just what he got.

WAR WAIFS

One of the most heart-rending aspects of the long and bloody Spanish civil war has been the fate of little children. One observer estimates that more than 900,000 have been made helpless and homeless during the fighting.

The plight of all war refugees is sad enough, but what of these waifs, nearly a million of them, who now are without food, homes, friends or adequate clothing? How can the Spanish nation, regardless of which side wins, ever hope to rear these children into useful, happy men and women?

Compared with disaster such as this, even the Texas school explosion, resulting in more than 400 deaths, pales into relative inconsequence.

HALF-MAD CULTS OF ABUNDANCE

Writing in Harper's, John T. Flynn, the well known liberal economist, declares that the one hope of escape from the business setback, lies in an "attack on the price structure." He advocates the outright repeal of the Robinson-Patman act and the Miller-Tydings act, discontinuance of the policy of subsidizing scarcity and artificially boosting the cost of farm products, demobilization of the Commodity Surplus corporation and its price-pegging policies, and scrapping of all marketing agreements.

At the present time, the government is planning a war against monopoly. Yet, as everyone knows, for more than five years the government has definitely encouraged monopoly in various fields, and has sometimes forced it on the country through legislation. Through the destruction of farm crops and the passage of laws outlawing certain low-cost retailing methods, it has, to all intents and purposes, placed an elevator under the price structure. We are reaping the fruits of that policy today, and its name is depression.

If monopolies in restraint of trade actually exist, the government should ferret them out and destroy them. But no matter how effective the work done, it will benefit the public hardly a whit if our national policy promotes laws which make steadily rising prices inevitable, and monopoly unavoidable. We are paying the price now for a deliberately fostered policy of scarcity.

Above all, as Mr. Flynn writes, "There should be an end to the half-mad cults of abundance. The day of the promoters ought to be closed. It is a very real and sober world of facts that we must now face."

RESPONSIBILITY OF UNIONS

The decision of Federal Judge Fred L. Wham of East St. Louis, ordering the Progressive Mine Workers of America to pay $117,000 in damages resulting from a lengthy strike, has brought to a new crescendo the long and bitter argument over responsibility of labor unions.

The final outcome of the case, which presumably will be carried to the highest court in the land, is one which will affect the entire future of employer-employee relations in America.

Judge Wham's ruling, holding that unions and their members are responsible under the law for damage inflicted as a result of unlawful conduct or conspiracy to injure an employer's property or business, may eventually prove to be a turning point in the controversy over whether labor unions should be incorporated or otherwise made legally responsible for their actions.

Briefly, the stands of employers and workers on the question are these:

Employers contend that the present situation is unfair because they, as individuals or corporations, are responsible for their acts, while unions are not. They contend that employers should receive assurance under the law that, once a contract is signed, there will be no strikes or other disturbances as long as employers discharge their obligations.

Labor contends that unions are not irresponsible, do not violate contracts, and need not be incorporated to assure responsibility.

Without discussing the merits of Judge Wham's decision, it undoubtedly will serve, in the long run, to clear up one of the most puzzling aspects of employer-employee relations—whether organized labor is liable for damages for civil offenses.

It will not settle, however, the question of whether unions should be made legally liable for damages resulting from failure to fulfill contracts, as no question of agreement violation was involved in the Illinois case.

This, and many other aspects of the organized labor problem, will be solved only when congress and the administration buckle down to the task of formulating a definite national labor policy.

TEACHING FOR PAY

We would like to correct a conclusion which we expressed some time ago which undoubtedly did an injustice to many people. It is to the effect that a person who taught only for pay was not doing his full duty.

After reflecting on this thought, which was a popular moral code, we think this is a half truth.

It certainly is perfectly legitimate and honorable for any individual to teach established customs, habits and practices for pay and pay alone. To illustrate—it is perfectly legitimate for any man to teach music for pay; to teach a mechanical trade for pay; to teach literature, mathematics, etc., for pay.

But when it comes to teaching only for pay, the serious moral and economic questions that have a profound influence on the general welfare of society, this is another matter. And it is here that the teacher who teaches only for pay is to be criticized. If he teaches only for pay, then he will teach any moral principle, no matter how damaging it may be to society later on, if it is necessary to hold his job or if he is rewarded sufficiently. It is easy to see that this kind of teaching for pay is what the old religious proverb had in mind.

We regret the error of our thoughtlessness and beg the pardon of those whom we might have injured.

DO MEN LOVE WORK?

The "Red" Rugg books contend that a few men like to work. If this philosophy be true, then of course those who do not like to work will oblige those who like to work by not working so that the lovers of work can have more opportunity to produce things to make comfortable people who do not like to work.

It certainly would be too bad to have people who do not like to work do things so that those who do like to work would be deprived of the pleasure of work.

That is a beautiful philosophy to teach the children—that some people like to work. That is what most every socialist contends—that people like to work; that there is no need of reward or penalty or deprivation in order to get people to work.

We have never yet found any man who liked to work for the sake of work. We have never known of any man who was glad when he made an error so that he could do the job over again. We have never known any man who would put in ten hours to do a job if it could be done in one hour.

No man likes to work. He likes only the fruits of work. He likes to accomplish things.

For Rugg to say that any man likes to work is in harmony with his loose, careless thinking.

A TAX WITH A FRIEND

Congressman Knutson of the ways and means committee, when the undistributed profits tax was dubbed as a tax without a friend, inquires as to what tax has a friend.

There is no federal tax, under the present system, which should have any friends, because there is no sound principle back of any of the present federal taxes. They are just a form of anarchy, just a form of a combination to rob each other.

If we had a tax based on a fundamental of all religions, namely, equality before the law, then we would have a tax system that could be the friend of everybody because real taxes that support a good government should be the best investment of every individual.

A graduated consumer tax has friends.

If the federal government would tax people in proportion to what they cost the government and apply the Universal Rule as the Golden Rule in their taxation system, they would have a taxing system that would have friends. We have never seen any audience to whom a graduated consumer tax did not appeal, when it was explained to them. Just the other day, in less than 30 minutes of explanation, a group of school teachers voted 90 per cent in favor of a graduated tax on consumption, as opposed to the graduated tax on income resulting from production.

ENNOBLING WORK

It seems that we are now to go back to the Grecian civilization, if we are successful in limiting the amount of hours a man can work.

In the book, "The Principles of Western Civilization," Benjamin Kidd points out that since our modern, liberal government and philosophy controlled western civilization, we have had a constant tendency to enoble the ideal of work. He points out that in the time of the Grecian civilization, it was war that was ennobled; that to Socrates, it was idleness which was the star of freedom; that every occupation which required its followers to work and receive pay was viewed with contempt. It made no difference whether the condemnation might and did include in it the greatest architects, painters and sculptors that the world had ever produced. To Aristotle, the only classes worthy of considering were the citizens of an exclusive order of society, as soldiers, judges or priests. A state with a large number of mechanics and a few soldiers could not be great.

We believe the modern idea (until the last few years) that the producer, the worker, is the only ideal which will preserve a civilization. When we get the idea that work is degrading or that work hurts others, we are in a very dangerous condition.

AUTOMOBILE EXPENSE

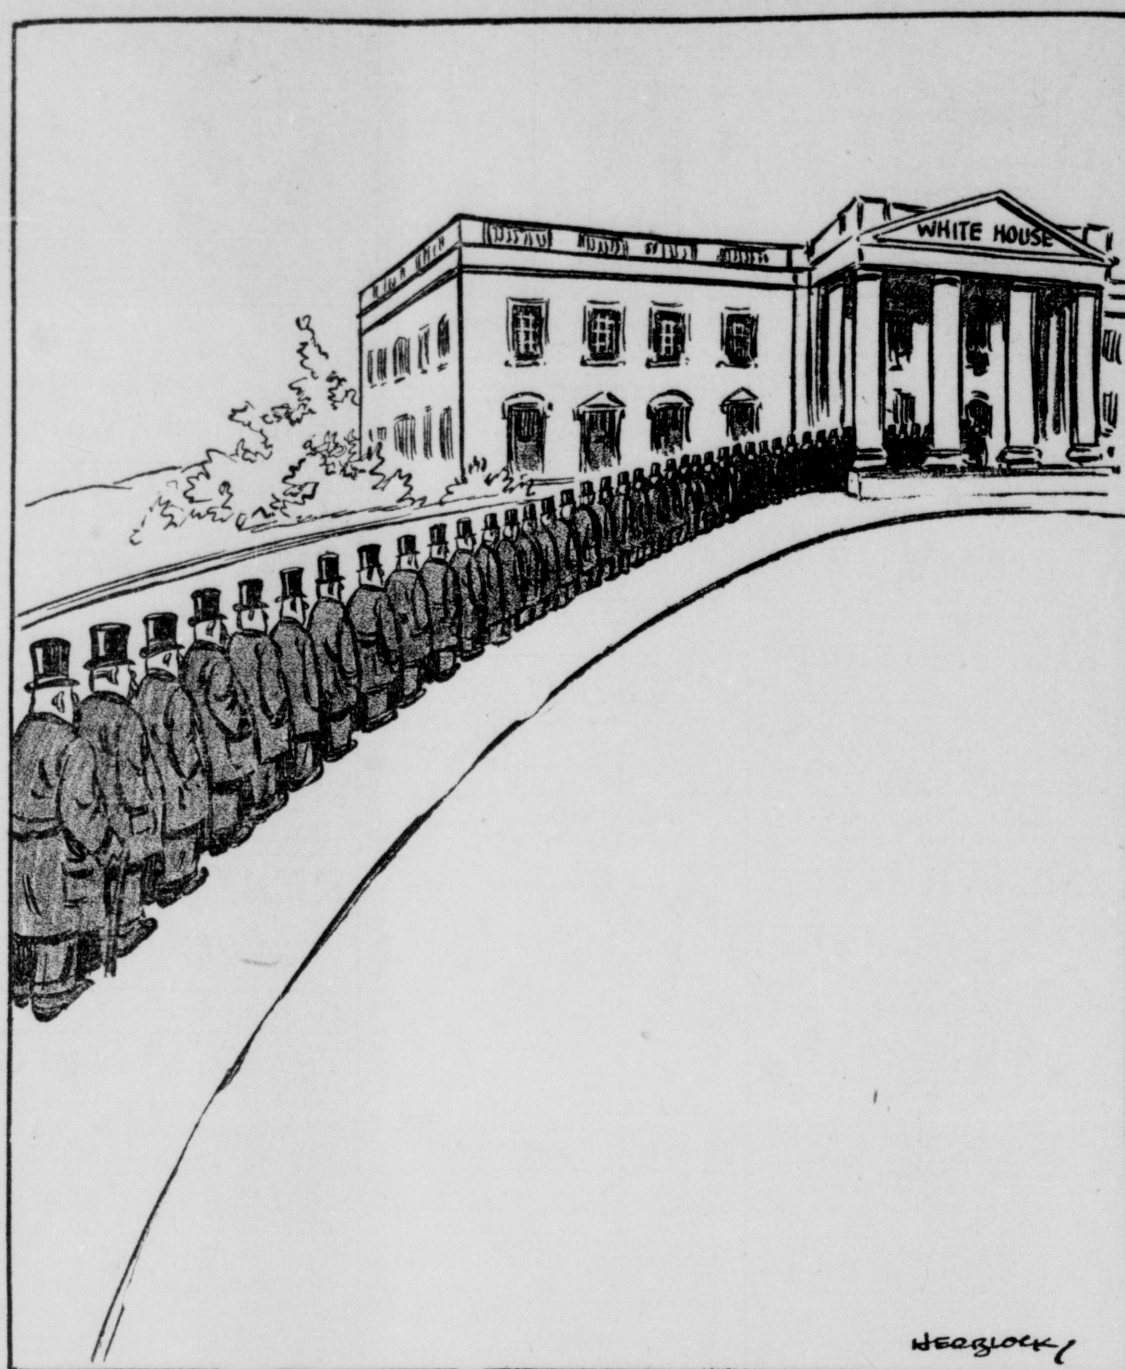

The place which the automobile has come to hold in the cost of living in America is one of the interesting developments of modern life.

Official investigation has recently developed the fact that next to food the automobile expense is the largest incurred by the families of America except among those in the lowest income bracket.

Formerly expenditures for clothing came next to those of food. Now the expense of maintaining the family automobile exceeds the expenditures of the average family for clothing.

And who will say that next to food, the greatest convenience and pleasure they have is not the automobile?—Santa Monica Outlook.

General Hugh S. JOHNSON Says

NEW YORK CITY—I attended today the funeral of a great woman. Funerals are relics of barbarism. They seem to me to be a public test of fortitude, grief in its most unsupportable form. They are ordeals for the bereaved. People more grieving than a Sioux sun-dance, in which tribal devotion is tested by a public tearing of the breasts of brave men.

They are supposed to honor the departed but none could be so lavishly given, and none could love so lavishly and not shrink from such exposure of anguish.

It would be better if, with the last conscious farewell, the servant could depart in peace with no more ceremony than attends our leaving on a journey. But funerals are both a social and a religious tribal fetish—like the sun-dance—and such simplicity will probably never be. In this morning's funeral an attempt was made to reach this ideal simplicity. It reached close because this great woman, although she was the wife of a luminous national figure, was herself so simple that she kept out of the spot-light that, for so long, has followed her brilliant husband.

I never talked with her that some part of the conversation did not reveal an effort to do something for somebody else who needed it. Yet, so quietly was this done that frequently those who were aided never knew from whence help came. I think that never did the public know.

At the depths of the depression, her efforts helped to keep a whole country from hunger. If that were taken into a press notice, I never saw it.

But the kind of care that seems to me more impressive than even these silent charities was a watchful eye for all kinds of bearings of the burdens of human bondage on others that most of us take for granted—that this or that young married man didn't seem to be getting ahead as fast in his position as his family situation required—that an old employee who had sought to better himself elsewhere was slipping—that a struggling young musician wasn't getting a chance—that a street vendor wasn't warmly clad. There just isn't space enough to record the variety of such concerns that absorbed that woman's time and effort.

To make a perfect home, to bring her children up in right principles to right living, and, above all, to try to make as happy as possible the lot of all those whose fate touched hers—I know of no life better lived. All this brings me back to the hateful subject of funerals. Only those few who were most dear were asked to her's and, although this included the beloved Eleanor Roosevelt, it also included many of the lowly. All this made for the simplicity of these quiet and beautiful rites, but it also made them ineffably poignant.

I cannot go through a thing like this without a feeling of hot rebellion against the miseries of man. He didn't ask to be born into this hazard of grief. He didn't invent whatever is in him that so binds him with ties of devotion that, when he looks into an open grave of the best and most beautiful he has known, he can reflect that the worst and the meanest are yet permitted to live, and ask what sense of justice or mercy resides in a scheme of things so sorry.

In that sad, small and anguished company today, I seemed to read such thoughts in every face I saw.

"It is for each to utter that which he sincerely believes to be true, and add his unit of influence to all other units of influence, and let the results work themselves out."—Spencer. Contributors are urged to confine their articles to 300 words.

Editor Register:—

In the December 16 and 17 Register you say the Townsend plan limits production beyond the pension age. If you fully and clearly understood ALL of the Townsend Plan, you would be thoroughly conscious of the fact that the forced spending of all the pensioner's money every 30 days would not cause "limiting of production" but on the contrary would increase production to its utmost capacity because of the tremendous demand for all kinds of necessities, conveniences and luxuries that would immediately and continually follow its adoption.

You ask if "wealth can be produced in any other way than by working on the natural elements and converting them into something that man desires and exchanging them."

I answered this question in the December 8 Register in these words: "Wealth is produced by transmuting the earth's natural resources, mineral, chemical, agricultural, forestry, etc., into consumable goods which must be purchased, necessitating buying power in the hands of the people before the goods can be used or consumed."

It is impossible to be "working on the natural elements and converting them into something that man desires and exchanging them" unless he is able to exchange, buy and sell them. This requires purchasing power, which is today in a very weak condition and always has been, more or less in comparison with the enormous buying power produced by the Townsend plan.

You say man's "consumption is reduced by the amount of the tax." This is true of the present tax system but not of the Townsend transactions tax which increases consumption by the forced spending and rapid circulation of money throughout the entire population, thus overcoming by far the little 2 per cent transactions tax which is paid by the seller who will not add it to the price as competition would prevent this.

You say I fall "to explain in any mathematical way how the recipients of pensions are receiving anything else than a gift." If the pension were a gift it would then be their sole property to do with as they pleased. Such is not the case as they are required to spend every cent within 30 days to enable every one else to enjoy the use of so much money, now idle and benefitting nobody. The Townsend plan does not "transfer $10 worth of purchasing power from one man and give $10 worth of purchasing power to another." What it does do is to increase the purchasing power of everybody, as reiterated many times by means of the forced spending and rapid circulation of all the money passing from the pensioners to everyone else, which naturally increases their purchasing power.

You say "the entire pensions must be taken from the taxpayers before the pensioners can spend it, and those taxpayers have less purchasing power."

The government is now unnecessarily taking from the taxpayers billions of dollars which would be saved under the Townsend "Pay-as-you-go" plan. So the government's present bungling, unwieldy system is burdening the taxpayers beyond endurance while if the Townsend Plan were adopted the load would be lessened more and more until the national debt is paid when taxes will become negligible. You say of the spender, "that part which he does not consume is transferred to someone else. This does benefit the recipient." Correct. But the benefit of what he consumes or uses is also helping others. When he buys food to consume the merchant is benefitted by the profit on the food sold. This is true of everything else—goods, services, amusements, education, etc., all of which benefits are possible to everybody when purchasing power is made universal under the Townsend Plan instead of being restricted to a comparatively small part of the people which the present economic financial system provides at a tremendous cost to taxpayers who are thus deprived of the bounteous benefits due them.

The foregoing is in reply to that part of your argument contained in the December 16 Register. I see no connection with the Townsend Plan in what you say in the December 17 issue. The reference to the "ten men carrying a log" has no relation or bearing whatever on the Townsend Plan. Your saying it "is exactly parallel to the Townsend Plan" is sufficient proof of the fact that you should make an exhaustive study of this marvelous plan until you obtain the truth in it. Then you would not want to waste time on ancient writers of the eighteenth century who knew nothing of the modern needs.

WASHINGTON, D. Even Henry Ford has announced a new tractor that will "end the depression." This leaves General Motors holding the bag.

AMERICAN SPAS ARE AS GOOD AS THOSE ABROAD IF SELECTED WITH GREAT CARE

Far too many Americans believe that foreign watering resorts, such as those of Carlsbad, Gastein and Vichy, have peculiar virtues which are not available in the United States.

Actually all that these places have that our own spas and springs do not have is a completely organized system of handling the people who come, so as to get the utmost value to health.

Far too often in this country the spas are exploited either as special places for the wealthy or as panaceas and cure-alls beyond any possible usefulness.

Dr. Bernard Fantus has emphasized that human beings have had faith in mineral water since the beginning of time. Whenever a spring was discovered somebody tasted the water. If the water tasted good, it was used by the healthy. If it tasted bad, it was figured that it might be useful for those who felt bad.

If it not only tasted bad but smelled bad, it was supposed to have even stronger powers. With the development of modern chemistry, most of these waters were found to be simple combinations of well-known mineral salts.

The next step was to put the water with the salts in bottles so that the person could get at home everything that he could get at the springs.

Taking such water at home is not the same as taking it at the springs, however, because when one visits the resort, he gets not only the water, but also a vacation, a change of scene, habits, routine, and climate, and with it all the belief that he is doing something good for his health.

Persons who do better in a warm climate should choose a health resort in a warm climate. Those who do well in the absence of certain pollens or plants, to which they may be sensitive, should choose a health resort where these plants and pollens are scarce.

Far too often, mineral springs in the United States have been developed as gambling resorts, sporting places or amusement resorts rather than primarily as health resorts.

There are about 2000 places in the United States which have springs of more or less medicinal value. If a complete study of such resorts were made so that we could know exactly what they have to offer, there would be increased demand by the public for their prescription by the medical profession.

News Behind the News

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—That business advisory council report to the President on how to put the country back on its feet went into the White House files, but not into the White House program.

The report (in case you have already forgotten, it was made last Wednesday) was sound and sincere. The 49 business leaders had a hard time in private writing it. They fought for days over the wording in parts of it.

But essentially it was a reshuffle of a report made to the President last April by these same advisers, entitled "Principles Fundamental for Industrial Peace." It is likely to meet the same fate. That former one has been so completely forgotten by now that few business experts can now recall that it was ever made and few Washington files still contain copies of it. The trouble is the council has no outstanding personality to lead it. Councilors have no following, no press agent, no continuing influence, in fact, no influence at all. When they speak, they generally speak for the files.

Unless Mr. Roosevelt has been secretly raising some rabbits under the bushes in the back yard of the White House, he will spring only three more major suggestions on this session of Congress, to wit:

1—Extra naval construction.

2—Legislation to abolish bank holding companies but no others.

3—A Congressional study of the anti-trust laws.

That is all Congressional leaders have been led to expect. They say it is definite despite all current talk to the contrary.

None of the politicians are interested now in the question of whether Mr. Roosevelt is gaining or losing popularity. Three months ago they were pulling all wires to find out.

The change is due to general agreement among them that the whole political situation now is simply this:

Mr. R's job is to get people back to work before the fall elections. What he says about it or even what he does about it, does not make much difference. If he gets them back to work before the next Congress is elected, he will ride the crest of the wave, if he doesn't—not make much difference. If he gets them back to work before the next Congress is elected, he will ride the crest of the wave, if he doesn't—

Son James has been up to his Massachusetts estate several times lately for reasons other than inspection of the livestock. His interest, they say, is more in the political poultry line. More than one Massachusetts Democratic leader has the idea James wants to hatch a successor to Democratic Gov. Hurley for the race in the fall. They think he wants the state attorney general, Paul Dever, but Dever won't hatch, or at least has not so far.

Best concrete example of what the corporation tax has done to defeat progress was given to the House Frank-makers by Newspaper Publisher Frank Gannett.

His papers decided last year not to spend $200,000 for new presses, because, with the tax added, the presses would cost too much and he could get along with the old ones. He will buy new presses if the tax is repealed.

New Supreme Court Nominee Stanley Reed has had better luck than Roosevelt had before the rent depression started. When Reed was counsel for the RFC here a few years ago, he was slated for appointment as federal district judge in Kentucky. Plans were actually under way then to give him a farewell banquet. Instead he got the solicitor-generalship unexpectedly at the last moment and passed from there on to the Supreme Court.

A newsman who sent into the Senate for Republican Leader McNary the other day received word back:

"Senator McNary will come out as soon as he can find another Republican to 'hold the floor.'"

Mr. Roosevelt wrote the nomination of Justice Black in large, longhand, but not that of his second nominee, Justice-to-be-Reed. Reed's nomination came to the Senate typewritten in very small type—the normal way.

look at it from the viewpoint of unemployment reserves. Let's assume that the 30,000 workers whom these great business geniuses have turned out into the street each earned about $2,000 a year. That represents an annual payroll of $60,000,000, so even if the nine executives had received nothing, their combined salaries could have carried the unemployment fund for about one fortnight—and that's just about the length of "notice" which is conventional in decent domestic service.

The point is that these generous executive salaries give General Motors its own unemployment reserves, even after paying taxes. Mr. Sloan can weather almost any storm of personal unemployment caused by his own bad guesses or by the resentment of society. But General Motors maintains no corporate reserves designed to take similar care of its lower-paid employees. The corporation can fairly claim that industry's function is to manufacture goods and not payrolls or dividends.

Granted! The government is now taking over the job of unemployment insurance, relief and social security for all the people, and G. M. cannot fairly be criticized for not assuming a responsibility which belongs to society as a whole. But, if General Motors is absolved from the duty of taking as good care of its idle workers as it does of its idle machinery, its owners and officials must no longer oppose the efforts of the government to meet the human problems which G. M. claims is none of its own corporate affair. And that is where Messrs. Sloan, Knudsen, et al get off.
